TURKISH TORPEDO BOAT IS DRIVEN AGROUND AND DESTROYED BY BRITISH

Attacked Transport Manitou, Firing Three Torpedoes, Which Missed the Mark — One Hundred of Crew Drowned in Unaccountable Manner—Unofficial Reports Say Operations Against Dardanelles Are About to be Renewed Extensively.

London, April 17.—A Turkish torpedo boat, which attempted to interfere with preparations for the resumption of operations against the Dardanelles and Asia Minor by attacking the British transport Manitou, was driven aground on the coast of Chios today and destroyed by the British cruiser Minera and British torpedo boat destroyers.

An official statement tonight said thre torpedoes were fired at the Manitou but missed the mark, but that 100 men from the transport were drowned. How that occurred without the transport being struck is not explained, as particulars apparently have not yet been received.

This is the only official statement from the Allies on the operations against Turkey but from unofficial sources it is learned that warships have been attacking the forts at Bulair on the Pallipoli peninsula, while Turkish reports say that attacks have been made on the Dardanelles on the outer entrance and that Majestic and Swiftsure have bombarded the forts near Gaba Tepeh.

Battles at a Standstill.

Spring's arrival which has given the aviators their opportunity, has brought almost to a standstill the battle in the Carpathians. The Russians continue attacking in the neighborhood of Uzsok Pass, the main road through which is commanded by heights upheld by the Germanic allies, but with the melting snows, the overflowing streams and rivers and the whole country covered with deep mud, nothing on a large scale can be attempted.

Similar conditions are interferring with the Austro-German outflanking movement toward Stry. Beyond the repulse of attacks by the Russians of some heights between the village of Telopoche and Zuella which lie on the southern slopes of the Carpathians southeast of Lupkow Pass. That indicates the Russians are trying to get in the rear of the army defending Uzsok Pass which they have been unable to take from the north.

In the West there have ben attacks at widely separated points along the front, but the French seemed satisfied for the moment with the advances they have made in Alsace, the Woevre, the Argonne, Champagne and north of Arras, which in the view of British military critics proves the Allies can advance when they desire. A frontier incident, which during ordinary times would pass unnoticed, has occurred on the Italo-Austro border. It is said that an Austrian patrol recently passed through Italian territory ignoring the protests of the customs officers.

Domestic Questions Up.

Those matters, however, do not altogether divert the attention of Englishmen from domestic questions such as the liquor problem and the acceleration of teh output of war munitions, which parliament is expected to consider in earnest next week. Committees already are at work in the industrial centers, speeding up the work of armament of the Allies. Several establishments which heretofore have devoted part of their attention to government work have been taken over by those commmittees and the working forces in other establishments have been increased to keep up the output of guns and ammunition.

The committees are securing as many men as possible for work in those factories and in some cases municipal employees have been commendeered.

As to the liquor question, it is said that an agreement between the government and the opposition has ctually been reached on the scope of restriction to be introduced.

GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS SHOT.

Commander of Defeated Tenth Army Wounded Him and Then Suicides.

Berlin, April 17 (by Wireless)—The General Anzeiger of Duisburg, Rhenish Prussia, says it learns "from an absolutely unimpeachable source" that the reported sickness of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaevitch, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, was due to a shot in the abdomen fired by the late General Baron Sievers, of the defeated Russian Tenth army.

The General Anzeiger says the general was summoned by the grand duke to explain the defeat of the Russian Tenth army. A heated colloquy took place, the newspaper says, and the Grand Duke gave General Sievers a box on the ear. The latter thereupon drew a revolver and wounded the Grand Duke, subsequently turning the weapon upon himself.

The fact that General Sievers had committed suicide, said the General Anzeizer, was learned at the time of his funeral, but the news that the Grand Duke Nicholas had been wounded has only just become known.

General Sievers was commander of the Russian Tenth army which in February suffered a severe defeat in the Mazurian Lakes region of East Prussia. The Frankfurter Zeitung on March 12th, said it had a Petrograd dispatch intimating that the general had committed suicide. That was not confirmed from any other source.

TORPEDO BOAT SUNK.

Turkish Vessel Fired Three Torpedoes at British Transport.

London, April 17.—The British admirality in a statement issued tonight announced that a Turnish torpedo boat had been sunk in the Aegean sea.

The admiralty statement follows:

"The transport Manitour, carrying British troops, was attacked by a Turkish torpedo boat in the Aegean sea this morning.

"The Turkish boat gred three torpedoes at the transport, all of which missed their mark. The torpedo boat then made off, but was chased by the British cruiser Minerva and British torpedo boat destroyers and was finally run aground and destroyed on the coast of Chios in Kalam Muti bay. The members of the crew of the Turkish warship were made prisoners.

"It is reported that about 100 men on board the transport lost their lives through drowning, but full particulars have not yet been received."

UNITED STATES IS URGED TO INTERVENE IN NEGOTIATIONS

Peking, April 17.—Intervention by the United States in the negotiations now pending between China and Japan is recommended to President Wilson in the appeal recently sent to him by American missionaries in this country. The message was 5,000 words long and was forwarded to Washington by cable. It characterizes the Japanese demands on China as acts of aggression such as eventually will present a menace to the United States. Recalling the fact that Japan has at present in this country double her usual quota of troops (amounting to 60,000 men) the missionaries urge that Japan be notified that the excess of troops should be removed.

The understanding here is that a Chinese official, or several of them, paid the cable charges, amounting to nearly $6,000 on the message to President Wilson. This communication was signed by the Revs. E. W. Thwing, John Wherry, C. H. Fenn and W. A. P. Martin, all connected with the American Presbyterian Mission at Peking. Rev. Chauncey Goodrich, of the American Board of Commerce of Foreign Missions, who is stationed at Tien Tsin; the Rev. H. H. Lowry, of the Methodist Episcopal Mission at Peking, and Rev. C. F. Hubbard.

There are in China several hundred American missionaries, of whom the great majority have not seen the message. Some of them who were requested to sign it declined. The American Board recently requested its missionaries to avoid public expression of opinion on political affairs and although it is said the missionaries generally side with China in the present controversy, few of them have been active politically.

What Petition Asks.

The petition asked President Wilson to demand of China and not of Japan, American participation in the conferences now under way. It is suggested that Great Britain and other nations be invited to participate.

The missionaries ask "that the government of both China and Japan be notified that the presence of unusual bodies of Japanese troops on Chinese soil not only endangers the freedom of negotiation, but constitutes an outrage of the rights of China and a serious menace to the peace and safety of Americans and foreigners generally," and recommends that pending the removal of excessive contingents of Japanese troops all negotiations should be suspended.

Declaring that "we wish it understood that we are not partisans," the message says:

"Let it not be thought that China is a Republic only in name because of the autocratic powers at present vested in the President. The powers of his high office are wisely and patriotically exercised. The formalities and parade of kingly station are all avoided and advancement toward a more popular form of government is vastly easier than it would be under imperial rule.

The memorial offers explanation of the shortcomings and enumerates the achievements of the Chinese government. It denounces "Japanese aggression," as "a danger not only to China, but eventually to America," and adds "shall we go on forever being fooled by fair speeches made at full dress banquets at the Japanese capital."

NO REPORT RECEIVED.

From Naval Commander Dispatched to Turtle Bay to Investigate Reports.

Washington, April 17.—No report had been received late today from Commander Noble Irwin, of the cruiser New Orleans, detailed by Admiral Howard of the Pacific fleet, to investigate reports alleging that Japanese warships were attempting to make a naval base in Turtle Bay, Lower California.

"I telegraphed Admiral Howard, who is at Maxatlan," said Secretary Daniels tonight, "the substance of what the press has said concerning the Japanese warships and asked him to make a report. We did not tell him to do anything but to pay a visit of courtesy and report what he found."

GERMANY'S TERMS OF PEACE HINTED

Natural Commercial Relations With Belgium

Property of Congress

AN A FREE SEA ALWAYS

From Dr. Bernhard Dernberg Heard at Mass Meeting at Portland, Me., Sets Forth What Must Be Before Peace.

Portland, Me., April 17.—A letter from Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, former colonial secretary of the German Empire, was read at a mass meeting here tonight at which the German side of the war was set forth. Dr. Dernberg laid stress upon the German fight for an open sea and asserted that the advantages accruing to Germany for permanently retaining the stand which it has taken in Europe could be disregarded if all the other German demands, especally as guaranteed a free sea, were fully complied with in making peace and "the natural commercial relations of Belgium to Germany were considered in a just and workable form."

Dr. Dernberg's letter in part follows:

"I can with full authority disclaim any ambition for my country for world dominion. She is much too modest on the one hand and too experienced on the other not to know that such a state will never be tolerated by the rest. The aim of Germany is to have the seas as well as the narrows permanently kept open for the free use of all nations in times of war as well as in times of peace. I personally would even go as far as to neutralize all the seas and narrows permanently by a common and effective agreement guaranteed by all the powers.

Jointly Owned Cable.

"A free sea is useless except combined with freedom of cable and mail communication. I should like to see all the cables jointly owned by the interested nations and a world mail system over sea established by common consent.

"The only alternative to an open sea and free intercourse policy would be a Chinese wall around each country. If there is no free intercourse every country must become self sufficient. Germany has proven that it can be done. But this policy would mean very high customs barriers, discrimination, unbounded egotism and a world bristling in arms.

"Germany does not strive in conquering and subjugating unwilling nations. Belgium commands the main outlet of Western German trade as the natural foreland of the Empire, and has been

The will is dated March 5, 1913.

MADERO OFFICERS REPLY TO HUERTA

Long Signed Statement Made Public at New York.

WERE CABINET MEMBERS

Three Ministers in the Cabinet of Madero When Latter Was Assassinated, Answer Charges Made by Former Dictator.

New York, April 17.—Until General Huerta unseals his lips and clears up the question of who was responsible for the death of Francisco Madero, it will be impossible for the law abiding and peaceable citizens of Mexico to accept General Huerta as their leader or spokesman, says a signed statement issued here today by three former ministers in Madero's cabinet. They are Pedro Lascurain, Rafael L. Hernandez and Ernesto Madero.

The statement was issued in reply to one by General Huerta in which he denied responsibility for Madero's "execution," said he knew who was responsible, but was keeping it as the "professional secret," of a soldier. "On the day following the murder of President Madero," reads the ministers' statement, "Huerta, through his man, Mr. De La Barra, explained it as the result of a fight between the escort that was taking Mr. Madero to the prison and his own followers who tried to rescue him. Some time afterward, one of the Huerta ministers, Mr. Lozano, said that the truth was that Mr. Madero had been assassinated by Felix Diaz. Now Huerta, rejecting explicitly both official explanations, speaks of some professional secret that he cannot reveal.

Only One Work Lacking.

"We are now compelled to express our profound admiration for the notable reticence which leads Mr. Huerta to endure further undeserved odium for the reputed responsibility for President Madero's death when by only a word he could prove not only his complete innocence but his historic greatness. Unfortunately the bond of honor which he says seals his lips makes it impossible until this matter is fully cleared up, for the law abiding and peace-loving citizen of Mexico to accept Mr. Huerta as their leader or spokesman."

General Huerta's attacks on the Madero government are declared in the statement to be "false and slanderous". His various charges that Madero brought on the revolution which placed him in power through the help of liberated criminals, that he annihilated the union, destroyed the credit of the country, prostituted the discipline of the army and dissipated the surplus of the treasury are taken up in detail and counter charges made in refutation.

"At the time that Huerta treacherously overturned the Madero government, Mexico was well nigh pacified," the three former ministers declare. "There was only one source of unrest and if the civil war started again and has continued for more than two years, that must be attributed to Huerta's usurpation of power.

"It is false that the Madero administration annihilated the national union. At the time of the downfall of that administration the government dominated the whole country, controlled all its ports, both maritime and those of the border, all the railroads and every state of the republic was represented in Congress. Annihilation of our union came as a result of the treason that culminated in Mr. Huerta's rise to power, because honest men who could not approve of such usurpation of the presidency, revolted against the usurper and the country was again thrown into unrest.

"The statement made by Huerta that the Madero government prostituted the discipline of the Mexican army is surprising from the lips of the man that, as the head of the army, committed treason against the government which appointed him for its defense."

Their boat at the wharf was also partially burned. The cotton was worth over $5,000; insurance $4,000; building loss, $1,000, half insured. The boat also was insured. Origin of the fire is unknown. Boyd's Ferry is Grimesland landing on the Tar river.

Several special school tax elections were held in Pitt county today. Grifton voted a high school tax by a big majority. Stokes also voted for special tax.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY IN FIGHT

Washington in Doubt as to Outcome of Battle in Mexico

GENERAL HERRERA SHOT

Carranza Commander at Nuevo Laredo and His Staff Fired on by Own Troops Through Error—Villa Says Revolt.

Washington, April 17.—Official Washington still is in doubt as to the status of the battle that has been waged for nearly a week, between the big armies of General Villa and General Obregon near Irapuato, Celaya and Queretaro.

"Both sides claim victory," said Secretary Bryan today, commenting on reports received. "I suppose we will know definitely after a while."

There has been comparatively little information from American consular agents in the battle zone.

Carranza authorities insist they have inflicted a severe defeat on the Villa forces and captured many prisoners. The Villa agency here today gave out a telegram from General Villa stating that irrespective of the "exaggerated claims" of the Carranza force he still was holding his position.

Reports have reached officials here that many wounded have been sent to Aguas Callentes by General Villa.

Late today the Carranza agency here received a telegram from El Paso stating that Villistas there and Juarez had received advices from General Villa relating to his defeat at Celaya and attributing it to lack of ammunition. The message stated, however, that there were reports of fighting still in progress near Irapuato.

GENERAL HERRERA KILLED.

Commander at Nuevo Laredo Shot Through Mistake by Own Troops.

Laredo, Texas, April 17.—General MacLovio Herrera, Carranza commander at Nuevo Laredo, opposite here, was killed by his own men who mistook him and his staff for Villa troops, according to information received here late today by General R. K. Evans, in command of United States troops here.

General Herrera and members of his staff had taken a postion on a hill near Nuevo Laredo when it is said they were fired upon from a Carranza military train, the soldiers mistaking the party for Villa troops. Besides Herrera, his aide and several other members of his staff were killed.

The information received by General Evans did not give the exact location or time of Herrera's death, which other reports say occurred nine miles southwest of Nuevo Laredo early today.

GERMAN CRUISER NOW IN SHIP YARD BERTH

Occupies Same Place as Did the Prinz Eitel.

Minor Repairs to Engines, Etc., Are Being Rushed to Conclusion. Goes Into Dry Dock Monday for Examination.

Newport News, Va., April 17.—The German converted cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm today was moved from her anchorage in James river, by tugs and warped into the same berth at the ship yard here that the Prinz Eitel Friedrich occupied during her 30 days' stay at this port. The Wilhelm, it was said, will not be placed in dry dock before Monday. After she is hauled out an examination of her hull will be made by a government survey.

Captain Thierfelder, it was learned today, has asked for an armed guard for his ship and a guard similar to that supplied for the Eitel will be furnishe, it was said.

While waiting to go into dry dock, the Wilhelm's commander is having engine and other minor repairs rushed to completion. Since has first meeting with Commander Thierichens, of the Eitel, commander Thierfelder has been more emphatic than ever in his declaration that he will not intern. It was reported the two commanders had agreed that the Wilhelm's great speed would favor her should she attempt a dash to sea through the Allied warships off the Capes, to resume her commerce raiding.

SENSATION ON TAP OF NATIONAL SCOPE

Riggs Bank Officials Aim to Have Williams Ousted

BY ACT OF CONGRESS

Many Senators and Congressmen Borrowers on "Demand" Paper—Wild Scramble to Get It—Pence for National Secretary.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., April 17.—The controversy between the Riggs National Bank and Comptroller of the Currency John Skelton Williams promises to cause a sensation nation-wide in its scope. It is no secret in Washington that senators and members of Congress are frequent, and, sometimes large, borrowers at the Riggs.

Most of the money loaned to statesmen, it is said, is on "demand" paper. The Riggs officials say they are going to oust John Skelton Williams as Comptroller by an act of Congress. Should the officials desire to do so, they could make it very embarrassing to those senators and congressmen who have paper in the bank.

According to rumors here, there is going to be a wild scramble among statesmen of both political parties to get their paper out of the Riggs before December 1st. Some, it is said, are not even taking as long a chance as that. They figure that there might be an extra session of the National Legislature and they are making arrangements to clean out all notes held by that institution at the earliest date possible.

Raleigh-Salisbury Protests.

The order of Postmaster General Burleson abolishing the parcel post terminal stations at Raleigh and Salisbury has brought strong protest from Senators Simmons and Overman and members of Congress. It is contended that H. C. McCubbin, who owns the building where the station is housed at Salisbury, spent nearly $15,000 putting up the building and arranging it in accordance with the Department's wishes. A contract for five years was signed, and, according to reports, assurance was given Mr. McCubbin that his building would be rented for many years to come.

The Salisbury lease was dated December 17, 1913, and the government agreed to pay an annual rental of $1,140 a year. The Raleigh contract was signed October 3, 1914, and called for a five-year lease at $1,526 a year. There is a provision in the leases, however, stipulating that the government can terminate the lease upon 90 days' notice. These notices have already been mailed to Raleigh and Salisbury.

Pence for National Secretary.

It is learned from a highly reliable source that Col. Thomas J. Pence, publicity director of the Democratic National Committee, will be offered the secretaryship of the committee to succeed Joe Davies, who resigned when appointed a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

"Col." Tom, as he is known from Maine to California, is one of the most popular and widely known men in the country. As publicity director of the National committee he has been of invaluable service to his party. Pence can get publicity by asking where others would have to pay real money.

RACIAL DISTURBANCE AT BOSTON LAST NIGHT

Trotter, Of Equal Right League, and Others Arrested

Boston, Mass., April 17.—A racial disturbance which developed tonight in the lobby of the Tremont Theatre, where a motion picture play dealing with the re-construction period in the South was presented, resulted in the arrest of William Munroe Trotter, secretary of the National Equal Rights League; Aaron W. Puller, pastor of the People's Baptist church, two other negroes and a white man.

Trotter, who is charged with disturbing the peace, claims he was struck in the face by a policeman. Puller was arrested on the same charge. Trotter said he had decided to go to the theatre tonight after receiving a letter from Mayor Curley to the effect that the producers of the play had made changes in the films at the request of persons who sympathized with objections made by negroes who had seen the exhibition.

The trouble followed the alleged refusal of the theatre to sell tickets to Trotter. The explanation given by the management was that the house was sold out.

Disorders had been anticipated by the police and more than 100 reserves were near the theatre at the opening hour. During the disturbance in the theatre lobby and for a long time afterwards hundreds of negroes walked up and down Tremont street between files of police reserves or clustered on Boston Common until dispersed.

Trotter came into prominence recently when he headed a committee of negroes who called upon President Wilson to protest against segregation in department offices at Washington.

COL. A. B. ANDREWS DEAD IN RALEIGH

Was First Vice-President of Southern Railway.

WAS 74 YEARS OF AGE

Death Caused by Pneumonia, Which Followed Chill Friday Night—Had Been in Railroad Work Since the 60's—Wealthy.

Raleigh, N. C., April 17.—Col. A. B. Andrews, first vice-president of the Southern Railway, died at his home here tonight after brief illness, at the age of 74. The end came suddenly at 17 minutes after 9 o'clock.

Yesterday he was at his office, but at night was taken with a chill, having suffered several days with a severe cold. The chill developed into an acute attack of pneumonia in the right lung and early tonight his condition was regarded as most serious, his death quickly following a statement prepared telling of the seriousness of his condition.

The funeral will be held in Raleigh, probably Monday afternoon.

Colonel Andrews was born in Franklin county, North Carolina, July 23, 1841, and received only common school education. He entered the Confederate army as second lieutenant, First North Carolina Cavalry, was wounded twice and was a captain at the close of the war.

After that he engaged in railroad work and in 1869 was superintendent of the Raleigh & Gaston railway, which afterwards was converted into part of the Seaboard. He occupied official positions with a number of railroads in this State and Georgia, in 1892 going to the Richmond & Danville railroad as third vice-president, later second vice-president, being finally general agent and receiver. When the road became the Southern Railway he was made first vice-president and has held that position since, being president of a number of smaller roads belonging to the Southern Railway. His greatest constructive work in North Carolina was the building of the Western North Carolina railroad, about 1878.

It is estimated that his estate will be about a half million dollars.

Interested in Education.

Colonel Andrews was greatly interested in education and since 1885 has been a member of the executive committee of the trustees of the State University. A Confederate veteran, he was a director of the Confederate Soldiers' Home of this State. In 1781 he became a director of the Citizens' National Bank of Raleigh, on its organization and since 1890 has been its vice president, and interested in other banks and in various business institutions.

In 1869 he married Julia M. Johnston, daughter of Colonel William Johnston, of Charlotte, N. C., who survives with four sons, all of Raleigh, and one daughter, Mrs. W. M. Marks, of Montgobery, Ala.

CHRISTY TELLS HOW WARREN WAS KILLED

Chloroformed by Wife; Strangled by Son-in-Law.

Man Charged With Murder at Winston-Salem, Makes Confession That He Helped to Hide Body, Say the Police.

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 17.—S. P. Christy, who with three others is charged with the murder here last August of G. J. Warren, confessed, according to a statement by the police today, last night to having taken part in disposing of Warren's body, but denied having had a hand in causing his death. He is said to have declared that Mrs. Warren chloroformed her husband and that Clifford Stonestreet, her son-in-law, then strangled him with a rope.

Mrs. Warren and Stonestreet placed the body in a trunk, according to the statement, and Christy obtained a wagon and, after driving about with the body all day, took it to a lonely spot on Muddy Creek where he sunk it after disfiguring the face to hinder identification.

Fishermen found the body several days later and the murder remained a mystery until the arrest two weeks ago of Mrs. Warren and Stonestreet and his wife.

After her arrest Mrs. Warren was said to have made a confession in which she declared Christy killed Warren in his room at a local hotel while she looked on.

Christy was located in Saline, Texas, and brought here last night.

The preliminary hearing of the four accused was set for next week.

Greensboro, N. C., April 17.—J. Henry Phipps, candidate for commissioner of public safety, who was expected to make a strong run, failed to file his notice and pay his five dollars entrance fee in the city primary last night and will not get his name on the ticket. He is a disappointed man.

RAY RYAN'S MEN WON FROM LOCALS 11 TO 4

Loosely Played Game at Sunset Park Yesterday.

Costly Errors and Many Hits Marked Two Hour Mill Between Rocky Mount Down Homers and Terry's Champions.

In a loosely played game, featured by costly errors and numerous hits, the Rocky Mount team of the Virginia League yesterday afternoon administered a severe drubbing to the local stars playing under the name of the Terry Champions, the final score being 11 to 4. Osteen, pitching for the visitors, had the local boys at his mercy from the beginning, striking out six of the first nine men to face him, and allowing only three scattered hits in the seven innings that he pitched.

In the first inning the visitors found Green of the local team easily and hammered out four hits coupled with two passes and made them good for a half dozen scores. Nine men came to bat in the first inning. Goosetree, second baseman for the Rocky Mount team hitting for a two-bagger and driving in three scores.

In the second frame Daubert passed up Terry's easy grounder to short, Hines taking the run at first and being thrown out stealing second. Kite grounded out to second and Boswell followed with a fly to left. The visitors in their half started off easy. Bell grounding out to first and Fisher doing likewise to Green. Eisel hit for two bags. Snider followed with a grounder to short, which Bundy handled well, making an excellent throw to first, but Terry dropped the ball, Eisel scoring on the play. Snider was thrown out stealing second.

Smith, Sheppard and Green struck out in one-two-three order in the third inning. Goosetree, the first man up for the visitors was given free transportation to first and went to second when Daubert singled to left, Goosetree and Daubert easily working the double steal. Parmelee was safe at first on a fielder's choice, Goosetree scoring on a squeeze play, Kite dropping the ball. Ryan hit to short and was safe on a fielder's choice. Bundy threw wild to the plate, Daubert scoring. Parmelee stole home, Ryan taking second. Osteen struck out and Bell did likewise. Ryan was thrown out at the plate.

Hines opened the fourth with the first hit for the Wilmington boys, driving one through short, later stealing second later meeting death on third when Houston struck out and Bundy and Terry grounded to first. Hamilton entered the box in Green's place. Hines made a beautiful catch of Eisel's drive over second. Snider grounded to second, Hines throwing wild to first. Goosetree struck out and Snider was caught trying to steal second.

Ulrich went behind the bat in place of Ryan at the beginning of the fifth inning. Daubert fumbled Kite's grounder and Hines taking the run at first. Boswell doubled to center, Hines advancing to third. Smith bunted, Osteen throwing wild to first and Hines crossed the plate with Wilmington's first run. Smith stole second. Boswell scored on Sheppard's fly to left, which was easily accepted by the fielder. Hamilton was struck by a pitched ball, Sheppard taking the run at first and advancing to second on a passed ball. Hines singled to right and Sheppard scored. Houston popped out to third.

Daubert opened the visitors' half of the inning by hitting the second ball pitched for three bags. Parmelee and Ulrich popped out to second. Osteen hit through second and Bell followed with an infield hit. Smith made a good running catch of Fisher's fly to center.

The sixth inning was a blank for both teams and the only one that approached fast playing. The local boys scored one run in the seventh, after two men were down, when Sheppard's grounder to third was dropped on the throw by the first sackman. Sheppard took second on a passed ball and scored on Hamilton's slow grounder to first, Osteen who covered the base dropping the ball. Boswell, running for Hamilton, was thrown out at second. The visitors' half of the inning was a blank, Osteen getting a double to center, but later was caught at the plate.

Wilmington got two men on base in the first of the eighth, but to no avail, for Bundy popped out to the pitcher and Terry doing likewise to short. Kite was thrown out at first by Goosetree. The game was called at the eighth inning to allow the visitors to catch a train. The score by innings:

CHIEF JUSTICE CLARK IS ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Of Commission For Revision of Court Procedure

Commission Meets and Outlines Programme for Work Assigned It by Legislature—Uniform System of Inferior Courts.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 17.—The commission for the revision of court procedure and formulation of a uniform system of inferior courts, as recently appointed by Governor Craig in compliance with the provisions of an act of the recent Legislature, met and organized today. Chief Justice Walter Clark was chosen chairman and Mr. W. S. Wilson, who is the State Legislative Librarian, accepted the duties of secretary to the commission which he will perform in connection with his librarianship duties.

The commission went over the situation informally, especially the necessity of so revising the system as to eliminate technicalities and delays that have tended to clog the courts in their administration of justice with that degree of promptness so much to be desired. The commissioners agreed that the courts have not kept pace with other activities in assuring dispatch and efficiency in court procedure.

It was found that correspondence already had by members of the commission shows that quite a number of the states of the Union have already taken steps looking to this reform of judicial procedure, numbers being already well advanced in this undertaking.

The commission will write to leading lawyers, bankers, merchants and farmers for their views as to changes needed in court procedure to make the courts more efficient, and information and suggestions will be gathered from other desirable sources. As soon as the data from other states and the suggestions from professional and business men within the State are gathered the commission will come together again and the actual work of revision will be apportioned among the commissioners, who will hold conferences here from time to time. Finally a tentative report will be made up and this published. Then criticisms of this report will be taken into consideration and then a final report and recommendations made to the Governor and the next General Assembly.

conquered with untold sacrifice of blood and treasure. It offers to German trade the only outlet to an open sea; and has been politely established, maintained and defended by England in order to keep these natural advantages from Germany. The love for small peoples that England heralds now will never stand investigation, as shown by the destruction of the small Boer Republics. So Belgium cannot be given up. However, these considerations could be disregarded if all the other German demands, especially a guaranteed free sea, were fully complied with and the natural commercial relations of Belgium to Germany were considered in a just and workable form. In this case Germany will not fail when the times comes to help rebuild the country; in fact, she is doing so now."

Concluding, Dr. Dernberg wrote:

"A permanent peace will mean that German activity must get a wide scope without infringement upon the rights of others."

DIVER WORKING ON F-4 ENTANGLED IN LINES.

Went Down at 10 Yesterday Morning—Being Slowly Raised Last Night.

Honolulu, April 17.—While working at a depth of 220 fet outside the harbor where attempts are being made to raise thesubmarine F-4, Diver William F. Loughman became entangled in lines attached to the boat today, but was released after heroic efforts lasting nearly four hours.

At last reports Loughman was being brought slowly to the surface and was resting at a depth of ninety feet to avoid too rapid a change of air pressure.

Loughman was lowered shortly after 10 a. m. and was being brought to the surface when he became entangled. Diver Frank Crilly who recently made a record here for deep sea diving, was hastily sent down to aid Loughman. Both divers worked strenuously to disengage the lines to the submarine to the air tubes and the line attached to Loughman's apparatus. Finally Crilly signalled that Loughman was clear.

Crilly was brought up first, emerging a few minutes after 2 o'clock. It was said he had suffered no serious effects but was exhausted.

MOSTLY CONTEMPLATIVE

By T. W. Chambliss.

Once upon a time a traveler from another continent spent some months seeing America. When his stay was about concluded, he was asked for his opinion of the American people. Quietly he gave it out in this wise:

The Americans are particularly distinguished for want of poise and composure. Unrest is seen in the avenue of trade and industry; in the feverish quest of fortune; in the ever-receding or oncoming storm depending over the relations of capital and labor; in the conflicting currents of enterprise of many sorts which give to the stream of financial affairs a look of turbulence. It is seen in the world of literary effort in the coming and passing of a literature which is for the most part ephemereal; it is seen in the social world, in the rushing hither and thither of men and women searching for some new amusement; in the impulsive shifting of residence; in the mania for travel. It is seen in the religious world in the readiness to yield opinion and to adopt new and strange isms; in the spirit of doubt and skepticism. It is seen everywhere in the craving for excitement and in the itching for the sensational.

Maybe the traveler was wrong, maybe he was partially right. But that does not matter. His statement starts a tendency to thought. It is true that among us the thing that is novel today is commonplace tomorrow. The newspaper a few hours old is tossed aside as a worthless rag and this may be taken as an indication not only that history is being made with rapidity, but also that there is a prevalence of unrest and discontent. It is hardly worth while to spend time in consideration of the general bearings of this mood, but rather think of the causes for the condition.

Discontent follows failing ambition. With the sunrise of life and on through the advancing day there is expectation of future achievement. Dream children of the night allure and beckon. Each passing day seems to find the goal still in the distance. The long and earnestly cherished end is not attained and disappointment results. The mind and the heart become fretful and discontent settles therein. It may be that in the place of the failure of attainment there is the loss of the thing attained—the possession of wealth and the knowledge of its having slipped through the fingers. Maybe friends have weakened in their interest—friends gained through constant effort. Possibly there was adesire to work, the ability to work, the opportunity open and then came the hindrance of infirmity. Disappointment comes. Discontent follows.

Life brings to the surface another distressing condition. The discontent of contrast. Not the discontent of inefficiency nor of something lost after having been attained—but the discontent of seeing the other have more—the discontent of the personal inequation. Magnificent is the wealth of the community displayed in consummate architecture and in imposing equipage, but what bitterness of spirit, what hurt of pride is concealed beneath the picture. Rivalry is the necessary spur to truest progress, but when rivalry takes on the sharpness of envy it becomes cruel and makes an angry wound.

But, whatever may be the apparent cause of discontent, the real cause lies in the misconception of the source of happiness. We seem to be searching for happiness as though it were some prize concealed in our circumstances rather than a condition to be found within. Jesus said, "The Kingdom of God is within you" and it was a true saying. He did not mean that there was no kingdom without, for there is; it does not mean that it makes no difference what a man has to eat or drink or wherewith to be clothed; it does not mean that one should not be striving with every bit of his power to better his material and personal condition. It does mean that man's circumstances are but concomitants of happiness and at most the ministrants to it, not in any sense the creator of happiness. Man may not expect to be satisfied this side of eternity but seek for contentment where it may be found. We will continue to want more and we should want more—to be content does not mean to be satisfied—it means being balanced and girded and sustained as the man strives toward the goal.

Have a definite purpose. Much of the discontent and unrest of the age is due to a failure to concentrate energy upon some worthy, serious, specific end. Having an easy time is very unfortunate—get the habit of conquering difficulties. Have a definite work to do, go at it with energy, and if an obstacle develops, surmount it. When you have overcome the difficulty,when you have borne the sorrow, when you have made the sacrifice, you then understand the words—"He that overcometh shall eat of the Hidden Manna." Robert Louis Stevenson said that he wanted this epitaph on his tombstone—"He clung to his paddle." It was a famous mountain-climber, who, after making a successful ascent of the Matterhorn, was asked, if the view repaid him. The answer was, "No, the reward was not in the view, but in the climbing." Contentment follows the successful struggle in life's contest.

Clears Skin—Stops All Blood Troubles

Goes Right Down to Where the Germs Start From.

The action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is notable in the skin. It is but natural that blood impurities should seek an outlet. Water, gas, oil and nearly all the active products of nature seek the surface. It seems to be a cosmic law. Even our thoughts will undertake to find expression. And so whatever we take into our system will eventually come out changed in form, converted often into some other substance, but constituting always either waste or that which has served its useful purpose and must be eliminated. And the skin is the principal avenue for escape of certain acids or poisons. If the skin and blood be healthy, these wastes pass off as vapor or perspiration. But impure blood loads the skin with eczema, pimples, acne, rheumatism, rash, fever blisters, blood risings and other eruptions. And S. S. S. has been found the very best, safest and most effective remedy to purify the blood and thus restore the skin to clear and attractive health. Get a bottle today of any druggist, but be emphatic. Do not allow anyone to hand you a substitute. Wrapped around the bottle is an interesting circular that tells you how to obtain skillful advice free on any subject concerning the blood.

S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 113 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Look for this name on the package.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN—IT'S YOU.

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your cloths in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new.
It isn't the town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
When every one works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbors can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't the town—it's you.

We refrain from blaming the Pullman car porter for wanting a hand-out to help him pay expenses. That is the great American habit. Even the captains of industry and the promoters of a merchant marine expect a hand-out from the government. It's a habit grafted on American economics and instilled into most everybody—the habit of demanding, expecting and getting something for nothing. Who has the heart to say a word against the Pullman car porters for being receptive of special favors?

Warships were made to fight on the open sea. Who thinks that hostile ships can climb into a narrow or tortuous channel where the chances of their never getting out are greater than their success? The Panama Canal would be a great trap for warships, just as are the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. The best way to protect the Panama Canal is to fortify it against attack by land. Defense lines ought to begin 40 to 50 miles away from the canal on either side, so an invading army could be kept at a distance, far enough away that it could not shoot up the canal with monster artillery. The channel would take care of itself, if it were loaded to the muzzle with mines.

EFFICIENT EXPRESS SERVICE.

The Star has hertofore emphasized the tremendous advantage of efficient transportation of all kinds in the development of a section or community. Any region which has good transportation facilities into the country's best markets has a tremendous advantage that it should duly appreciate. When any transportation company gets a move on it and increases its facilities and enlarges its efficiency it is doing a splendid service for the people who are its patrons.

The Star is glad to say that the Southern Express Company is a public carrier which not only appreciates its opportunities but is equal to the occasion. There is both initiative and enterprise in this needful transportation company and it is not letting any grass grow under its feet. The market bureau established by that company has greatly increased its ability to serve the public and it is worth while to note how energetically the company, through its market bureau, is making all the ends of safe and reliable transportation meet.

The company is following up an extensive and practical advertising scheme in its efforts to get consumers and producers in touch. In fact, it has a most thorough plan to create, find and reach markets, and surely its campaign is bound to succeed. It will not only prove a success for the carriers but for every community it serves. The inauguration of such a service indeed greatly enlarges the advantages of the territory covered by its service. Crtainly to magnify the transportation advantages of a community makes it more desirable in every particular, embracing productions, consumption, marketing and carrying.

In order to carry out plans effectively, the Southern Express Company has become one of the biggest and livest advertisers in this country. It is inserting in scores of farm journals and newspapers eight forms of advertising matter that covers the necessities of producers, consumers and shippers. The list of farm journals carrying the advertisements total a circulation of 1,276,929, while the daily papers used to reach both producers and consumers total a circulation of 1,158,592. Practically two and a half million subscribers have the company's plans presented to them in their favorite farm journal or daily newspaper, so the effect must sooner or later be tremendous, especially when it is remembered that five persons to every subscriber, on the average, read a paper. It is safe to say the advertising of the company is meeting the eye of not fewer than twelve million readers.

Everywhere the agents of the company are co-operating in this efficiency movement of the Southern Express Company. It is a live, enterprising and thoroughly business-like institution, and all the express people are live enough to get right into the spirit of the campaign, with all that it means to the company and especially to the great territory so efficiently served by it. It gratifies us to see the carriers aiming at the highest type of usefulness to their patrons.

PLENTY OF MONEY FOR PROSPERITY.

Wherever there is plenty of money there is prosperity, and wherever prosperity reigns it will be found that it is in a producing or manufacturing community where there is plenty of money for carrying on business. Suppose all the banks and merchants of a town would gather in the money of the section and send it away to New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore, and that just as fast as the people of the community would get hold of money they would send it away to other cities for what they want. Well, there surely would be a money famine in that section and there would be stagnation for fair.

Loyalty to one's town would dictate that if it is a very bad idea for everybody to send money away from home, it is a bad idea for anybody in the community to be ridding their town of money and business. The Savannah Rotary club is right on the position it has taken on keeping money at home, and the Savannah News has done the proper thing in strongly endorsing the action of the Rotarians. This from The News will apply with equal force to Wilmington, as well as to all other places:

"Not only the buyers of supplies for the city but also individual citizens should do their buying in Savannah. Certainly they should not fail to give Savannah dealers an opportunity to quote prices whenever they are in the market for supplies of any sort that can be obtained in Savannah. The Rotary Club took that position, in respect to the purchasing of city supplies, at its meeting Tuesday and as an organization of representative citizens was well within its right when it did go. It would be folly to say that it does not help a city to increase the business of its merchants. Then, is it not folly for the people of the city to do their buying elsewhere when they can get things just as good and for the same prices here at home? The city, of course, makes a mistake if it does not give local dealers an opportunity to bid on whatever supplies it needs and if it does not prefer to give its orders to Savannah dealers when they offer goods and prices as good as those offered by out-of-town dealers."

The wisdom to be found in the foregoing cannot be too strongly emphasized. Even if a little money can be saved on making purchases abroad, the whole community and everybody in it will lose more by the failure of their town to make progress and by the constant depreciation of a town that is constantly being stripped of business by people or authorities who have not taken the economic factor into consideration.

Business men will heartily approve this, we know, and here's where we want to hand one to the business men themselves. When they build or have work to be done, they should give out the contracts at home. By employing home labor and home capital they will be doing something for themselves and their town. Every contract given to out-of-town contractors who bring their outfit and labor with them is just as much sending money away from home as if people were to send it to mail order houses in Chicago or New York.

Don't business men know that they cannot save much money by awarding contracts to out-of-town firms when, all thngs considered, the work can be done by Wilmington contractors and Wilmington laborers, all of whom spend their money here? We once saw a big contract given out to a firm in a distant city. The contract involved nearly $200,000. Where did the money go? Well, it went out of Wilmington for building material, it was sent away weekly by workmen who mailed their earnings to their families to be spent in their own city, and when the job had been completed the contractors took their profits to their own city and put them in their own banks.

When the working men of any city are walking around with their hands in ther pockets, don't the business men know they don't save anything by sending their money away from home to be spent in some other city?

HAY FOR EXPORT TO EUROPE.

Talk about a market for everything grown on the farm, there is no need of looking very far for a purchaser for any kind of crop. The world wants our cotton, tobacco, peanuts, corn, wheat, oats, hay, and about everything else, so when we supply our own needs in any farm commodity we can rest assured that the surplus can be easily disposed of.

Europe seems to be wanting everything we make, and so it is that the demand for hay to feed cavalry horses is making the hay market look good to the forage producers of this country. The European belligerents are buying hay by the millions of bales, and "We" are now exporting hay, in addition to our other money-getting exports.

Sections of the South which do not produce their own hay, but have to buy, now have Europe as a competitor in the purchase of forage crops. Of course, they will have to pay European war prices for forage, else it will be exported to meet a tremendous foreign demand. At an early day Arkansas will export three million bales of hay, and it is to be compressed in order to save freight, just as cotton is compressed in Wilmington for the same reason. We know you will be doubly interested in this from the Jacksonville Times-Union of Friday:

"Robert D. Webb, of Minden, La., who has been in the city for several days conferring with the board of port commissioners in regard to the purchase of a Webb cotton compress for the municipal terminals, left for Arkansas last evening. He received a telegram yesterday from a firm in that state asking for prices of a compress to handle 3,000,000 bales of hay. The ordinary bales are to be repressed in a cotton compress, making one bale out of two, for the purpose of saving space in the ships. This big order of hay has been sold to the Allies for horse feed. The army officers, who made the purchase for England and France refused to accept alfalfa saying that that kind of feed would 'soften' the cavalry and artillery horses. Prairie hay is being baled for the purchasers. Mr. Webb stated that the hay would not be injured by being baled in a cotton compress. The pressure will not be great enough to spoil the feed but will be great enough to save fully 50 per cent of the space in the holds of the ships. The hay is to be shipped as soon as it can be baled."

The Mr. Webb referred to by the Times-Union is a Louisiana man who manufactures the famous Webb compress. In addition to the hay item, it will be noted that the public terminals at Jacksonville are to be equipped with a cotton compress. Heretofore Jacksonville has not been a cotton export point, or even a cotton market, but Jacksonville proposes to make a great public terminal enterprise the means of making that city both a cotton market and an export point for cotton.

By the way, why do not those Arkansas hay exporters ship their hay to Wilmington where it can be compressed and exported? Even if they compress it in Arkansas, why can't that hay be sent to Wilmington for export?

WHY NOT CINCH INDUSTRIES?

When Wilmington has an industry on the string it should be cinched, if the whole city has to be mobilized in order to have it located here. Some months ago, one of the biggest concerns in America wanted to locate a plant here and had actually preferred Wilmington to any other point. A location was even selected, but the property owners and the company were very wide apart on the price. In fact, factory site property went sky high when the promoters began to look around, with the result that they said "Good night."

To make a long story short, a city not nearly so eligible as Wilmington cinched it and the building operations already have begun on a large scale. Some idle Wilmington mechanics have secured work on the new plant and proabbly others will do so, as it will require a year to construct the buildings. We understand the factory will have a pay roll of $500,000 or more yearly, and will employ hundreds of people. It is too bad that we did not cinch it.

Wilmington surely ought to organize a get-factories movement. A try-to-get-factories movement, or a willingness to get factories, is all right, but such a movement must be well organized and adopt a method as well as a plan.

Of course, property owners want to get all they can for their property, but in several instances they have lost out on a sale because of the excessive valuation they put upon their property. As a consequence, moreover, the city lost out in its failure to look good to the promoters.

We can remedy that situation by getting together on an organized plan and by committing property owners to reasonable prices for sites suitable for factories. Options can be taken in some instances so that when an enterprise is gotten on the string, the question of a site can be settled without any ifs or ands about its.

Some cities have a corporation to handle their get-factories campaign and to engage in the promotion of industries along practical lines. We should wake up so we can seize opportunities when they knock right at our door.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Southern Railway, in its land purchases at Greensboro for depot and trackage facilities, turned loose almost as much money as the Norfolk Southern did in getting up to within a block of the city hall in Charlotte. The good thing for a community about these railroad purchases of land is that the roads seldom buy over the bargain counter. With them it is never a jewing-down, but a jewing-up process they have to meet.—Charlotte Observer.

"The New York papers continue to harp on the fact that even in wartimes living is cheaper in Europe than it is in the United States. However, they should remember that life is cheaper in Europe than it is over here. It costs more to live here, but the best part of it is that we have a far better chance to live."—Wilmington Star. Still, as the Europeans buy a large part of their food in this country, it is outrageous that it is sold at home for a higher price than three thousand miles away. —Jacksonville Times-Union.

It has now come down to competition of jitney against jitney, as well as jitney against street railway. Out in Tacoma, where the jitney craze has been at its worst, the jitney drivers organized a union of their own. Recently a "scab" jitney began operation and the organization at once took steps to put him out of business. Jitneys carrying passengers free were placed on the route taken by the "scab" jitney, and the union paid for the gasoline and for the wages of drivers of the free cars. An ultimatum was delivered to the non-union driver that he go out of business or join the union. Meanwhile officials of the Tacoma Railway & Power Company look on and smile at the attempted throttling of "free competition."—Wall Street Journal.

The Baltimore Sun tells of a proposition to revive the business of sheep raising in the western part of Maryland. Years ago, it says, the mountain mutton of that section was famous for its excellence and it holds that the present high prices of meat and wool offer every inducement to encourage this industry. If sheep raising may be followed with profit in the hills of Maryland, why not in the hills of North Carolina? Sheep are still raised in this section of North Carolina, but not in considerable numbers, but as the industry was more extensive years ago than it now is, there seems to be no good reason why it could not be profitably followed to a still larger extent at this time. The lack of tariff protection may be cited as an obstacle, but this objection is dissipated at once by the fact that the industry languished in North Carolina and throughout the country, instead of flourishing grandly, during the time when protection was at its highest notch and the wool schedules of the old protective tariff laws. And it is interesting to note that wool at this time—under the Democratic low tariff—is selling higher than it has sold in years.—Winston-Salem Journal.

STREET REPORT DENIED.

To the Editor of The Star:

The local organization of the Electrical Workers Union requests space in your paper for the following denial of a report, which seems to be current on the streets, to the effect that the individuals of organized labor in Wilmington are pledged to support certain candidates endorsed by the Wilmington Trades Council, in the coming city election.

The action of the Trades Council in this matter does, in fact, and can, in authority represent merely personal preferences of certain members of that organization and there has not been and will not be at this time, any united effort by the general body of Trades Unionists in the city to support the course indicated by the above action.

Respectfully,

J. C. HOBBS,
Press Secretary Local 123, I. B. E. W.

WHENCE ALL WHOOPING COUGH.

To the Editor of The Star:

While in the movies yesterday I counted twenty negroes, girls with children that did not know what movies were—babies in arms and just walking. I think it an outrage for we folks to come in and sit down beside one, and my very wash woman takes a white child to the movies and says "I would not sit with colored when I can sit with white folks:"

That is where all the whooping cough comes from. I counted ten different children whooping. Why does not the Board of Health look into this and stop the spreading of this terrible disease?

BARACA-PHILATHEA CONVENTION.

Will Be Attended This Week by More Than 700 Delegates.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., April 17.—The approaching Baraca-Philathea Convention in Raleigh, beginning Thursday evening, April 22nd, is creating widespread interest among the young people of the organized Bible classes in the Sunday schools of the State, of all Protestant denominations. About 700 regular delegates have enrolled at Baraca-Philathea headquarters, Greensboro, with several days ahead for those who happen to be late in deciding to go.

In addition to the regular delegates, several hundred visitors will attend the convention, especially on Sunday. Wilson and Henderson are endeavoring to secure an attendance sufficient to run special trains for the Sunday meetings, while the Charlotte delegates, accompanied by a number from Gastonia, will go in a special car.

It is well understood that the local committee on homes, in Raleigh, have secured plenty of homes for the delegates at $1.00 each per day, two in a room, and those who prefer hotel entertainment will lack nothing in the splendid hotels of the Capital City.

TELLS OF SUNDAY'S CONVERSION.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., April 17.—Rev. J. J. D. Hall, preaching in Christ Episcopal church here last night, told of the reformation of Rev. Billy Sunday, whom he regards as the "greatest preacher in the world." Sunday and three other baseball players were sitting in front of a hotel, said Dr. Hall, who is in charge of the biggest mission in the country, in Philadelphia, and recently had ample opportunity to hear and observe the evangelist's methods there, when the street service of Salvationists on a nearby corner attracted them.

The quartette strolled down to the corner and sat upon the curb. The Army people exhorted their hearers to go with them to their mission and hear from the mouths of saved men the stories of their salvation. Sunday followed the crodw. His companions strolled on back to the hotel. Dr. Hall recited the fates that befell the trio. Sunday, he said, was converted that night.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common Garden Sage and Sulphur Makes Streaked, Faded or Gray Hair Dark and Glossy at Once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

CHAUTAUQUA BEGINS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

To be Held in Big Tent at Eleventh and Market.

Attractions for Second Season said to be Even Better Than Last Year. Conducted Under Auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Only six more days remain before the Chautauqua opens in the big tent at 11th and Market streets. The event will be given under the auspices of the Wilmington Young Men's Christian Association and General Secretary Huntington and his assistants are busy arranging the details for the big event. Last year after the first Chautauqua was given, 1,000 tickets were subscribed for by Wilmingtonians and practically all of these have been taken. There will be many others who will want tickets and if purchased before Saturday afternoon a season ticket can be secured for $2.50 at the Y. M. C. A.

No tickets will be sold for less than $3 after the Chautauqua opens. As the individual charges for admission amount to $7.50, it can be readily seen that it will be worth while to purchase a season ticket. The people of Wilmington found last year that all the attractions were of the highest class and the same will be true this year. In fact, the Redpath Bureau declares that the Chautauqua this season is even better than it was last season. One of the new features will be the presentation of a modern play, "The Servant in the House," something that has never before been attempted on the Chautauqua circuit.

The Chautauqua will open Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock with a grand concert by the Music Makers. The keynote of the Chautauqua this year will be community building and in his lecture Saturday night, Sylvester A. Long will treat in a popular yet vital way of the foundations of community growth.

The announcement was made some time ago by the Redpath Bureau that there would be no Sunday programme this year on the big seven-day circuit which extends from Jacksonville, Fla., and Waukegan, Ill. This innovation, it is said, will cost more than $20,000. The tent will remain eight days in each place, but will be open to the public only on seven.

One of the big features this year will be the song recital on the closing night of the Chautauqua by Alice Nielsen, one of the world's most noted prima donnas. She and her company will this season travel in a private car which has been named by the Pullman company, the "Alice Nielsen."

Dr. Glen Henry Thomas, who is to be the superintendent of the Chautauqua, was for 15 years a member of the Chicago Glee Club and is therefore widely known in the Chautauqua and lyceum field. Aside from his long experience on the plaiform, he has also been active in other branches of Chautauqua and lyceum work and may be said to be thoroughly acquainted with the movement from all angles. He is said to possess a delightful personality which makes him at once popular with his audiences.

An interesting feature for many of those who will attend the Chautauqua will be the morning hour lectures which will be given this season by Dr. Henry Clark, who has been on the lecture platform for more than ten years. His talks deal with vital questions and are based upon long study and wide observation.

Dr. Frank Dixon, who lectured in Wilmington several months ago, will speak at the Chautauqua on "The Social Survey," or "Taking Stock of a Town." This is another lecture in line with the central idea of the Chautauqua—community building.

Giuseppe Bartolotta, the Italian tenor, who is to appear on the programme, has won wide distinction as a concert singer both in Europe and America. He has sung at the foremost concerts in England in conjunction with such well known artists as Patti, Melba, Kubelik, Paderewski and others.

The Savranoffs, a trio of Russian players, who appear on the second day, present a programme which is said to be characterized by dash and brilliancy. The programme includes piano and violin, cello and vocal solos and ensemble numbers.

The Orchestra Club, comprising six talented musicians, will appear on Popular Science night with Montraville Wood and daughter. Instead of furnishing simply a prelude they will intersperse music throughout the evening.

Wells Watson Ginn will present on the Chautauqua programme that most stirring and popular play, "The Man From Home," by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson. In this play Mr. Ginn takes ten different parts and is said to do all of them in a most excellent and pleasing manner.

On Children's night, Taber, a magician of 15 years' experience, will be master of ceremonies and promises to do the most startling things in a very matter of fact sort of way.

Hon. A. C. Shallenberger, ex-governor of Nebraska, and recently elected to Congress, will speak on the sixth day of the Chautauqua on "Political Patriotism." This will be known as "Patriotic Day."

Thomas Brooks Fletcher, the great dramatic orator, who will lecture on the last day of the Chautauqua, is pronounced a leader of the younger lecturers and thinkers of this generation. It is estimated that he has been heard in public addresses by one million people.

Dr. Charles E. Barker, who was the physical advisor of President William Howard Taft during his administration in Washington, will deliver his great lecture on "How to Live a Hundred Years." He will give demonstrations of the exercises taken daily by President Taft and numerous other persons prominent in National life.

Joy Night is always one of the big features of the Chautauqua and this year it will be in charge of Ralph Bingham—widely known humorist and prince of entertainers. He has been on the platform for 30 years. In the Joy Night festivities, Mr. Bingham will be assisted by the Christine Giles-Bingham Company of four members, who will play the piano, violin, cello and flute.

Band day is always looked forward to by Chautauqua lovers. The fifth day will be Band Day and Francesco Pallaria and his great band will render two programmes—one in the afternoon and one in the evening.

The initial announcement of the appearance of Alice Nielsen, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan and Boston Opera Company, at 120 Redpath Chautauquas this season, has been widely heralded throughout the musical world. This is the first instance in which so celebrated a musical artist has appeared on a great chain of Chautauquas. Unlike many great artists, she is a Southern woman and was born in Nashville, Tenn. She is said to be the only great musician who has made a success in grand opera after having first achieved a reputation in light opera.

The introduction by the Redpath Chautauqua for this season of a modern play will set a new precedent. Heretofore all such productions have been limited to Shakespeare and Goldsmith. William Owen, who heads the company that will present "The Servant in the House," has selected for his cast from among actors of experience whom he has known for years. For 12 years he was at the head of his own company. He has played the leading roles in many well known plays.

Miss Vivian Ditto will have charge of the children's hour which last year proved to be one of the most popular features of the Chautauqua.

Tickets for the Chautauqua are being sold rapidly and the indications are that it will be a great success in every particular. Thousands of Chautauqua pennants were strung across the street yesterday and the city is already beginning to assume a holiday aspect.

SEMINOLE BROKEN IN TWO

Thick Weather Caused Loss of Handsome Clyde Steamer on the Sands of Saona Island.

Further details of the loss of the Clyde steamship Seminole, off the southeast extremity of Santo Domigo, the past week are carried in a cable story in the New York World of Friday together with some interesting facts about the vessel's history.

While the local representatives of the Clyde Line say that it is too early to make any definite statement as to how the loss of the Seminole will affect the Clyde service between this port and New York, it is almost certain, in view of the recent positive assurances of the officials of the company that they intended to keep the service up to the standard set in placing the Cherokee and the Seminole on this run, that the handsome but ill-fated steamer will be replaced by another equally as well fitted for the passenger service.

The World's account of the loss of the Seminole is as follows:

"Santo Domingo, April 15.—The Clyde agency here reports that the steamer Seminole, Capt. Packer, running this trip for the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company, a company amalgamated with the American Coast and Gulf Steamship Line, is a total wreck near Saona Island.

The Seminole, an iron steamer of 2,557 tons gross and 1,967 tons net, turned out by the Cramps, of Philadelphia, in 1886, left New York for the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company's service on April 4, bound with freight only for Puerto Plata, Sanchez, La Romana, Macoria, Santo Domingo City and Haytian ports, including Port-au-Prince. She carried mails.

"She arrived all right at Puerto Plata, April 9, sailed next day for Sanchez, and from there for La Romana, on the south side of Santo Domingo, in attempting to round the southeast extremity of the republic, after negotiating Mona Passage, was caught in thick weather in the deceptive current and sucked in upon the sands of Saona Island.

"Capt Packer believed at first he could get her off and called for aid. The steamer is equipped with wireless. The norwegian steamer Sjotad was at Macoria on the south side of the republic, and responded to the call for help.

"The Seminole had been drawn into the breakers further and further, while the Norwegian was approaching, and her back was broken upon the bar of the treacherous lump of an island. The Sjotad could do no more than save Capt. Packer and the forty-odd men in his crew.

"The Seminole had run to Charleston and Jacksonville, and latterly ran regularly between New York and Wilmington, N. C., and Georgetown, S. C., but made this one trip for Santo Domingo and Hayti.

"She had had many adventures. She had been in trouble, not through her own fault, with the authorities of Hayti and San Donmigo and had been several times accused by the United States government of trying to smuggle arms and cartridges for Hayti and San Domingo and for Spain.

"In December, 1813, she almost foundered in a hurricane off Hatteras. She had been aground at Puerto Plata and near Point Pleasant, Turks Island and Atlantic City, her passengers in the last case having a thrilling experience.

"She had lost her propeller, broken her shaft, picked up shipwrecked crews, won salvage by towing in derelicts, run to seaward to save herself from storms and frightened her owners, and run the whole gamut of sea adventures.

"She was worth $60,000 and her cargo as much more."

JESS WILLARD FEATURE AT BIJOU TOMORROW.

Said to Be Only Moving Picture Story Ever Filmed of Champ.

An interesting announcement elsewhere in today's paper is that of the Bijou Theatre announcing the booking of "The Heart Punch" that noted moving picture drama in which Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, appears in the leading role, and the further announcement that it will head tomorrow's bill at that popular playhouse.

Probably more people would like to get a glimpse of "Big Jess" than of any many living, since his victory over Jack Johnson at Havana two weeks ago, and this picture, filmed just before Willard left for his training camp in February, will give everyone a good exhibition of this most powerful of all fighters. A stirring ring fight is a part of the plot of the story, and this will add interest to the picture for many.

SERIOUS OFFENSE CHARGED.

Mr. J. W. English Charged With Stealing Gun and Coat.

Mr. J. W. English, a middle-aged white man, was arraigned before the Recorder yesterday on a charge of stealing a coat and gun from Mr. J. E. Carter, his former employer. Mr. Carter said the entrance was made into his office through a window and the articles carried off. They were found in a pawn shop and the police stated that the pawn ticket was found in the possession of English.

Probable cause was found by Recorder Empie and the case sent over to Superior Court. In default of bond in the sum of $250 English went to jail. The specific charge made against was storebreaking.

PILGRIMAGE TO WILMINGTON

Suez Temple, No. 73, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, to Receive Over 60 New Members.

Much interest centers in the pilgrimage to Wilmington of the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, Tuesday night, when a team 25 strong from Suez Temple, No. 73, located at Charlotte, will be here to initiate a class of betwen 60 and 75, numbering some of the most prominent citizens of Wilmington and other points in this section.

The Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, it is claimed, is the only secret fraternal order having a ritual written in dramatic language, upon dramatic lines, with dramatic characters, and is pronounced by some of the best critics in the fraternal world the most remarkable production in secret society ritualism. Its ritual is original in its conception, written for the purpose of instruction and amusement, and carrying with it both the sublime and the ridiculous, but it is at all times elevating and refreshing.

The order is particularly designed to create better, broader and closer fellowship among Pythian Knights, furnishing them a middle ground upon which the members of the different lodges may mingle and become better acquainted, providing entertainment that is clean, bright and instructive. It admonishes all Votaries to think nobly of their friends, to fill their lives with sweetness, and to speak approving, cheering words while yet their ears can hear and their hearts can thrill with them, to brighten and perfume their homes by the flowers they would lay on their graves, and to let those flowers be love and affection; and it reminds them that post mortem kindness cheers no burdened spirit and roses on the coffin cast no fragrance on the lonely way.

Suez Temple has a membership of about one thousand of the leading professional and business men of North Carolina and quite a number from other States.

NORTHERN VETERAN PASSES.

Col. John Wainwright, of Wilmington, Del., Died Thursday.

Col. John Wainwright, of Wilmington, Del., who as a colonel in the Northern forces took part in the storming of Fort Fisher and was awarded a medal of honor by Congress for his gallantry in that memorable fight, died at his home Thursday. The following from Friday's New York Herald will be of interest here:

"Colonel John Wainwright, father of Lieutenant Commander John Drayton Wainwright, of the battleship Vermont, died at his home in Wilmington, Del., yesterday of general debility. He had a brilliant civil war record. Colonel Wainwright was seventy-five years old. Enlisting as a private in the Second Pennsylvania infantry in April, 1861, he was successfully promoted for heroism until June 1, 1865, when he was made colonel. He was awarded a medal of honor by Congress for gallantry at the storming of Fort Fisher, N. C. Interment will be made at Arlington Cemetery, Washington."

ANOTHER CARGO FO COTTON.

British Steamer Castleton Carries Big Shipment to France.

The British steamer Castleton cleared Friday night with cargo of 6,874 bales of cotton, valued at $344,000, for Havre, France. The vessel was loaded at the Champion compress. The barge Tuckahoe was towed into Wilmington yesterday with a cargo of phosphate rock for the Navassa Guano Company. The fishing schooner Nat Strong went on the marine railway yesterday afternoon for repairs.

DROWNED IN PEE DEE RIVER

Jesse Mason Met Tragic Fate in South Carolina—Formerly Lived in Wilmington—Funeral Today.

News was received yesterday that Jesse Mason, son of Mr. E. T. Mason, of No. 616 South Third street, was drowned in the Pee Dee river near Pee Dee, S. C. The telegram bearing the sad intelligence contained no particulars, but stated that a coroner's jury was investigating the tragic death. Mr. Ingram Baggett, a brother-in-law, and Mr. J. B. Mason, a brother, left yesterday afternoon for Pee Dee and expected to return this morning with the remains.

The funeral is to be conducted from the undertaking parlors of Mr. W. E. Yopp this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

There may have been foul play in connection with Mason's death and it was this feature that the jury was investigating. It was stated in the telegram that Mason was drowned three days ago.

Mason left Wilmington several months ago after acquiring a reputation for being somewhat of a bully. He declared that he was going to redeem his name from the cloud which hung over it and, so far as known, he was living an upright life when he met his unfortunate death. He had many friends in this city who have learned with deep regret of his death.

MR. CRAIG TO PREACH.

Will Conduct Services at First Baptist in Absence of Dr. Foster.

Rev. W. M. Craig, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach at both services today in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, who is at Forsyth, Ga. The news carried in yesterday's Star that Dr. Foster had accepted the presidency of Bessie Tift College, a well known educational institution for young women, was received with deep regret by members of Dr. Foster's congregation, as well as hundreds of friends in the city.

Dr. Foster wired yesterday that he would not be able to reach the city in time to conduct services today. He did not say anything about his acceptance of the position, tendered him by the board of trustees of Bessie Tift.

"The Iron Gate That Leadeth Into the City" will be the subject of Mr. Craig's morning sermon and tonight he will preach on "Inspecting Homes."

POLITICAL INTEREST REVIVED A LITTLE

Municipal Primary Will be Held Tuesday.

Candidates and Their Friends Are Hard at Work—Tuesday's Result Will Settle Mayoralty Contest. Heavy Registration.

After a week marked by comparatively little political interest, considering the nearness of the primary, there was a revival of the street corner discussions and speculations to be noted yesterday, and especially yesterday afternoon and last evening, and between now and the time the polls close Tuesday afternoon the question of who will be who when the votes are counted will probably be to the fore.

The lack of any extended general interest on the part of the public, however, is not to be taken as any indication that the candidates and their friends have not been busy, for they have—exceedingly so. There has been much quiet, button-hole work going on all through the past week.

Some have been disappointed, perhaps, over the lack of the element of heat in the present campaign, and at the earlier stages of the matter, when Former Mayor Springer was looked on as a Mayoralty candidate, there were predictions of a gloriously warm contest. His withdrawal from the race, say those to whom a political fight is as the breath of life itself, killed every prospect for the spectacular in this campaign.

However, while the few may feel disappointed over a tame municipal campaign, the majority of voters, doubtless, look on it as a most welcome change from some of the campaigns of the past, with their undesirable effects on business and the public peace of mind.

The registration for the primary—over 3,000—is heavy and the indications are that the vote will also be heavy—running over 2,500, the predictions have it.

Outside of the Mayoralty race between Mayor P. Q. Moore and Councilman T. W. Wood, few are making predictions as to the result of the different contests. Most of those who keep in touch with the situation are conceding that Mayor Moore will be re-nominated by a good majority, though Councilman Wood's friends disagree with them in this prediction and declare that their man has a splendid chance.

The Mayoralty contest is the only one that will be definitely decided at the primary, in so far as fixing who will hold the office for the next term, for two candidates for Council are to be nominated from each ward, to be passed upon by the city as a whole in the May election.

The primary, however, will probably give a pretty accurate prophecy as to who will be the next Councilman from the Fourth Ward, as there are only two candidates making the race in the Fourth—Councilman D. N. Chadwick, Jr., and Mr. James M. Hall, and the vote in the primary, it is believed, will be pretty much the same as in the election.

In each of the other wards, however, there are three or more candidates for Council, and the elimination of all but the two highest men will not necessarily indicate which of the two receiving the highest vote, will in the general election get the majority of the votes cast for the defeated candidate or candidates in the primary.

Complain of Glass Nuisance.

Complaint has been made of what is declared to be a nuisance, this being the large quantities of glass to be found in certain sections of the city and county. In the vicinity of Villa View it is said that there is much glass to be found on the highway. It has been suggested that city and county officers of the law could with great propriety look into the matter. Doubtless they will be glad to do what they can to remedy what is alleged to be a great nuisance. The promiscuous distribution of glass on the streets and on the highways might cause serious harm to motorcycles and automobiles as well as to pedestrians.

Repeat Passion Music.

The choir of St. James' Church, at the evening service today, will repeat the Passion Music, given on Good Friday, when, on account of inclement weather, only a few people were present. The music is inspiring and impressive, and the public is cordially invited to attend and hear it this evening.

BOOSTERS TO CELEBRATE

Ministers Will Play Game of Volley Ball at Y. M. C. A. Tuesday Night. Other Features.

The Y. M. C. A. Boosters are going to have a social gathering at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening to which the public, including the ladies, is cordially invited. The ministers will play a game of volley ball in the gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock, this being the stellar attraction of the occasion. That one feature will provide amusement enough to guarantee a crowded house. The preachers have been playing two games a week during the entire winter and are in fine form.

The object of the social gathering is to interest the people of the city in the splendid work that the Y. M. C. A. is doing. The boosters formed an organization a short time ago for the purpose of advancing the interests of the Y. M. C. A. and to instil into the hearts and minds of the members more enthusiasm.

The game of volley ball will not be the only attraction, however. Several expert swimmers of the association are going to give exhibitions in the swimming pool afterwards. There will be a musical programme and refreshments will be served. The visitors will be given an opportunity to inspect the building. It is expected that everybody will feel perfectly at home. No attempt will be made to make the occasion formal; on the contrary, it will be "delightfully informal."

A cordial invitation is extended the public, both old and young, to attend and have an evening of rest and enjoyment.

CANTATA BY COLORED RACE.

"Joseph and His Brethren," at Academy Wednesday Night.

"Joseph and his Brethren," a sacred cantata, will be given at the Academy of Music Wednesday night by a cast of over 60 colored people, for the benefit of St. Stephen's A. M. E. church.

The case includes some of the best talent of the colored race here, and the chorus singing is said to be splendid. Special costumes have been secured for the occasion. The cantata is in three acts and nine scenes. Recitals by Thos. H. Night and Rev. J. Francis Lee will be given between the acts. Dr. L. J. Davenport is director and Robert H. White manager.

TO PRESENT AID BOXES TO COLORED SCHOOLS.

At the regular meeting of the Wilmington Chapter of the American Red Cross Society the past week it was decided to present "First Aid" boxes to the Williston and Peabody colored schools. These boxes have been presented to all the white schools in the city and also to several in the county. The ladies expressed their warm appreciation of the contributions that the colored people have made for the support of the Red Cross sanitarium.

The report of the Sanitarium for the past month shows that there were on April 1st, 14 patients being treated. Two were discharged as cured during the month. The premises are now being improved and beautified, this work being in charge of Mr. Will Behder, the florist. The public is cordially invited to call and inspect the institution and its surroundings.

MISS THERESA PARSLEY BRIDE OF LIEUT. ABEL.

Miss Theresa Parsley, daughter of Mrs. George Davis Parsley, and Lieut. Carl Herbert Abel, of the coast guard cutter Seminole, were married at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Carr, No. 1901 Market street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The wedding was very quiet, the only guests being members of the family and immediate friends of the bride and groom.

Miss Blanche Parsley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and little Miss Susan Carr was flower girl. The ribbon bearers were little Misses Blanche Bolles and Katherine Carr. Lieut. J. F. Farley, of the Seminole, was best man.

Capt. Preston H. Uberroth, of the Seminole, and his staff of officers, including Lieut. B. E. Adams, Dr. Hughes and Lieutenant Wishaar, attended the wedding. Maj. H. W. Stickle, of the Engineering Corps, was also a guest.

Lieut. and Mrs. Abel left on the 6:45 train for their honeymoon. The groom was recently transferred from the Seminole to the coast guard cutter Tuscarora, which is stationed at Milwaukee, Wis., and they will go to that city to make their home.

The bride is well known in Wilmington and is very popular with all who know her. The groom has been stationed in Wilmington for the past three years and has made a host of friends who regret that he is to make his home elsewhere in the future. The best wishes of their acquaintances will go with them to their new home.

Mrs. Abel, of Indianapolis, mother of Lieutenant Abel, and Miss Theresa King, of Albemarle, a relative of the bride, were here to attend the wedding.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR FEDERATION CONVENTION.

Goldsboro, April 17.—A hearty welcome awaits all guests at the Thirteenth Annual Convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Goldsboro from May 4 to 7, inclusive. The Federation has now reached such a state of growth and development that it means a really influential force in the State, and this meeting is the director of that force. All clubs are urged to send full delegations, that there may be representation from every one. If one delegate comes representing two clubs, thus having the right to two votes, she should bring to the convention two regularly filled in credential cards; in every case a member of the convention should present a credential card for every vote to which she is entitled.

The schools of conferences has finally been arranged as follows: Wednesday, May 5, 2:30-4:00—Civics, Conservation, Social Service (in main auditorium of the court house).

Same time—Library Extension, Literature (in County Commissioner's room of court house).

Thursday, May 6, 2:30-4:00—Art, Music (in Woman's Club room).

Same time—Education, Home Economics, Health (in main auditorium of court house).

As each club is entitled to a representation of at least two, this arrangement allows the clubs, through their delegates, to get the benefit of both conferences each afternoon. As far as possible it is advised that the delegates from each club attend both conferences, that they may carry back to their clubs the results of the discussions.

The conferences are in charge of their respective department chairmen. Programs of a more or less informal nature have been arranged which promise to be of great interest to the club worker in general and the department worker in particular. Some outside speakers have promised to address several of these meetings, among them some of the most eminent authorities in their lines in the State.

Announcement has already been made of the social entertainment that has been planned the members of for convention. On Tuesday night, May 4, the Algonquin Club will tender a reception to the delegates, visitors, and club members. The next afternoon at 4 o'clock the Woman's Club will give the visitors a drive around town, with light refreshments at the park. The club will also entertain the members of the convention at a banquet Thursday evening after the musicale. To these functions the guests of the club are most cordially invited.

The music lovers attending the convention are having many good things prepared for them.

On Thursday afternoon there will be a joint conference on music and art. Assisting in this conference will be Mr. Wade H. Brown, dean of music of the State Normal College, and Miss Muffley, of East Carolina Training Shcool, whose wonderful success with public school music has attracted much attention.

Plans for bettering church and Sunday School music, for organizing choral classes, for bringing professional talent to our towns, for creating a musical atmosphere in our homes and schools, etc., will be discussed. Delegates will tell briefly of the best things accomplished for music and art by their clubs, and are invited to ask questions on any subject of importance to the advancement of these arts. Other good things are being prepared by the chairman of art which will be announced later.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings there will be short numbers by talented singers.

On Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock there will be a song rcital of American music by Mrs. Wade R. Brown, assisted by Mr. Brown at the piano. These gifted musicians are too well known in North Carolina to need any comment as to the high class of entertainment in store.

The chairman of music and art urge every club to have a delegate at this conference who may take home to her club greater enthusiasm and zeal for the cultural departments of the Federation.

Again the request is made that all federated clubs send the names of their delegates at once to Mrs. C. B. Miller, West Walnut street, Goldsboro.

INTERESTING GOLF EVENT NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Tombstone Mixed Foursome Tourney at Cape Fear Country Club.

One oft he most interesting features of the spring attractions to the members of the Cape Fear Country Club, is the annual Tombstone Mixed Foursome, which will take place next Saturday ,the 24th. This contest is an annual event, the idea being to take the handicaps of the gentlemen and lady players and add them together, getting the handicap that they are entitled to as a foursome and then adding this to a given number of strokes allowed for the nine holes. It is then the object for the couple to go as far as they can with the given number of strokes allowed.

The contest last spring was won by Miss Mildred Smith, playing with Mr. Milton Calder, they having gone the nine holes and 275 yards on the 10th hole. Each couple, when starting from the driving tee on the first hole, is given little flags in the form of a tombstone and when they have used up their given number of strokes, they place this little flag where the ball lies on the last stroke. This event is looked forward to with the keenest anticipation of pleasure, great rivalry existing between the players.

The play will begin immediately upon arrival of the 2:30 car.

CONSERVATIVE PROGRESS

IN OAKDALE CEMETERY

By F. H. Willard.

A bright, sunshiny afternoon, just the kind for a pleasant stroll. A desire to visit Oakdale cemetery leads the feet in that direction.

Passing through the main entrance, the eye is first attracted by several splendid specimens of the Magnolia, the tree so justly celebrated in Southern story and song. Beautiful are they in their dark green foliage, with lower limbs touching the ground; yet they are still more delightful in the flowering season when the delicious fragrance of their giant blooms is strewn upon the air.

Farther on, and facing the entrance, stands a monument inscribed, "To the Confederate Dead." This is surmounted by the standing figure of a Confederate soldier in military coat and cap, gun standing in front, right hand clasping the barrel and left arm resting across the muzzle. The figure and its natural pose recall the words of the well known poem beginning:

"The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few."

Though militaryism must eventually pass away, we cannot help remembering, with pride, the brave fight made by the soldiers of the South against overwhelming odds. Half a century has passed since they laid down their arms, and a greater conflict than the one in which they fought is now shaking the foundations of civilization to their depths.

A number of well kept roads traverse the cemetery in all directions. Passing slowly along first one and then another, one finds much to interest and instruct in the inscriptions carved on the various stones. Many of them are eloquent with humanity's hope and belief in immortality. Among other beautiful expressions, one sees now and then, over the grave of an infant, the touching and tender words: "Budded on Earth, to Bloom in Heaven," and "Safe on the Shepherd's bosom, resteth this little lamb."

The inscriptions on some of the stones show that those lying beneath were of foreign birth. From distant lands they have come, to find a resting place here. Strange must be his name who can wander here, and not find it represented somewhere.

Over the entrance to one section appears a quotation from Ecclesiastes: "For man goes to his Eternal home, and the mourners go about the streets." This recalls the beautiful and impressive words following it in Scripture:

"Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern;

"Then shall the dust return unto the earth as it was: and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it."

The gentle twittering of small birds, flitting from tree to tree, and the exultant notes of a mocking bird, singing his welcome to spring, make pleasing minors. The many beautiful flowers blooming about the well kept plots, show that spring has come, and also eloquently testify that the living have not forgotten the dead.

The screeching and puffing of locomotives, the rumble of passing trains and the noise of the city's traffic, remind us of the nearness of Life to Death, and of Death to Life.

Many of those now sleeping so quietly here, were once potent and important factors in the business, industrial and political life of Wilmington and surrounding communities; but their hands have laid down their tasks, and other hands have taken them up. Musing in this strain, the words of Kipling come to mind:

"—And falls the night
For you or me. Do those who live decline
The step that offers, or their work resign?
Trust me, Today's most indispensables,
Five hundred men can take your place or mine."

But the sun is hanging low beyond the spires of the city and feet must be homeward turned. Pausing near the entrance for a last look over the peaceful scene, the wish forms that every member of the great human family might so live that when the end of life drew near, each in turn, could request friends and loved ones to

"Say not 'Good night,' but in some brighter clime Bid me 'Good morning.'"

TEN WEEKS IN BED---EMINENT PHYSICIANS FAILED---WONDERFUL RECOVERY.

I wish to inform you of the great benefit I have derived from the use of Swamp-Root. I had been a sufferer for more than twenty years from kidney and liver trouble and was almost constantly treated by the most eminent physicians who could only give me temporary relief. I had been in bed ten weeks when I began the use of Swamp Root. Inside of twenty-four hours I could see that I had used several bottles when I really felt that my old trouble was completely cured and I am positive that any person suffering with kidney or liver trouble can be cured by the use of this preparation.

I am now in the best of health, better than I have been for ten years or more. I do not know how to express myself as strongly as I desire, in favor of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, as I am sure that it saved my life and that my good health is due entirely to this great remedy. I heartily recommend it to every sufferer, and am confident they can be benefited as I have been. It is a pleasure for me, gentlemen, to hand you this recommendation.

MRS. H. J. PRICE,
1306 Center St. Portsmouth, Ohio.

Personally appeared before me this 13th of September, 1909, Mrs. H. J. Price, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Ecclesiastes

Topic for April 18, 1915.
ONE DAY IN SEVEN FOR THE HIGHEST THINGS.

Ezek. 20:1-20. (Sabbath Observance Meeting.)

"The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath."

Sabbath observance was not intended as an effort for a misspent week. A claim for weekly rest as a physical necessity would imply no disregard for nightly rest. Both are needed. But as a traveler in the woods who has become uncertain of his bearings, eagerly follows up every chance to reach high ground or come to the open where he can fix his course again, so with the same hungry desire to get a higher and clearer view of his Creator's will, the would-be follower of Christ should welcome the sweet day of rest.

Moses prescribes the Sabbath to a nation spiritually diseased. He gave the regimen of rest to the men who did not feel the need of spiritual rest. He fenced round his rule with precise regulations of details one day in seven, no work, no fire, no traffic. When spiritual health has been restored, the law regulating the details of rest may become obsolete, but the nature which demands rest can never be reversed.

The deepest want of the soul of man is rest. All men do not crave pleasure or intellectual food, but all men long for rest. The rest needed is two-fold: physical repose of the body—a need which shares with the animals through the lower nature which he has in common with them; and the rest demanded is a repose of spirit. Bodily repose is simply inaction; the rest of the soul is exercise, not torpor. To do nothing is physical rest—to be engaged in full activity is the rest of the soul.

Experience tells us that the Sundays that are happiest, the purest, the most rich with blessings, are those in which the spiritual has been most attended to, those in whch the business letter was laid aside until tomorrow, the ordinary occupation entirely suspended. Humbleness, awe, adoration, love, these have no weariness in them.

The Pharisees called the Son of God a Sabbath breaker. They kept the law of the Sabbath; they broke the law of love. Works of necessity and mercy are always not only right but a privilege and a duty. Christ not only fed His disciples when they were hungry on the Sabbath day, but He healed the man with the withered arm.

Christ's invariable teaching was that gifts and worship could not be disunited. Paul said, "We that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves." "To please ourselves," is in many cases the governing rule; to please Christ is doubtless the only standard for the Christian. As this is our aim, would it be any loss if we should be a little too punctilious with reference to our Sabbath observance? If we err at all, this is the side we should seek to err on.

Action is the world's watchword today. "Up and doing" is the motto of the religious life as well as in the business life. We would not lessen the spirit or limit the necessity of Christian activity, but we ought not substitute works for worship.

"Sunday is hope day," said a busy man. "The very fact that business stops for that day, that no one will come with demands or schemes, with orders or bills, puts a little lull into the week, and gives brain and heart a chance to gather fresh strength and a clearer vision of the field even if it does nothing more. Things that look hopeless when we see only the encompassing wall of human probabilities, takes on a new aspect when we get a glimpse of outside possibilities. God's promises are stronger than earth's difficulties. Sunday brings fresh courage and new wisdom."

In our Sabbath observance let us learn large charitable considerableness. Let not the poor man sneer at his richer neighbor if, in the exercise of his Christian liberty, he uses his horses to convey him to church, and overworked shop keeper breathe the fresh air of heaven with his family in the country. Be generous, consistent, large minded. "The Sabbath was made for man."

The Sabbath is kept in the heart. God does not judge sin by overt actions but by the motives and purposes of the heart. Let us remember that God made the Sabbath holy; we cannot make it holy. We can keep it holy. Keep it for the purposes that he intended. The Sabbath is a great privilege and blessing to man and animals.

In a sense all time is sacred and to be used in the services of God; but the Sabbath is the time designated for the direct worship and service of God. When you speak of a holy day, we do not mean that the other days are not holy. We rather mean that our minds and time should be used in the highest, holiest things on the Sabbath.

Moody says, "Show me the nation that has given up the Sabbath, and I will show you a nation that has got the seeds of decay."

God is the giver and is the absolute owner of all things. This invincible conviction lies at the base of all correct thinking about the observance of the Sabbath day. When we realize that we are only stewards of all that God has given us, then, and then only can we realize what real observance of the Lord's day means. Sunday is the steward's day, the day of balancing accounts with God; this may be made a monotonous duty or a joyous privilege, but to commit one's self to the inspiring idea that God is the owner of all things is to take all the monotony out of stewardship. The Sabbath day is a trust, not a possession. We are stewards of time, not Creators.

Saviour may our Sabbaths be
Days of joy and peace in Thee.
Till in heaven our souls repose,
Where the Sabbaths ne'er shall close.

SUNDAY SERVICES

The Good Book says: "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another, and so much the more as ye see the day approaching." That is the day for which all other days were made—the day in which every man shall give account of himself to God. "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of God."

"So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God." Because of this we need to prepare to meet God. Let us consider this and attend the public worship of God and the study of His word, that we may be prepared to meet Him.

Economy-Fashion Event of Early Spring
Spring Suits, Dresses, Coats and Skirts
:: LOW PRICES NOT EQUALED IN WILMINGTON ::

AT LAST FASHION IS DETERMINED in women's clothing for Spring. Soon the authoritative showings of the new modes will be made. Already manufacturers have placed their orders and already they are preparing their work for the next season.

But—they have had on hand short pieces of the materials from which they have made up their Suits, Coats and Dresses, sometimes 10 yards, sometimes 20, sometimes an entire bolt. They have also a few made up garments; sometimes a dozen, sometimes a score of styles.

These ends of bolts of fashionable cloths, these remainders of silk, now made up to our order, these balances of stocks, all come to Polvogt's.

Star Business Locals Get Results

LUMBERTON NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE WEEK

Mr. C. B. Meares, Poisoned, in Critical Condition Yet.

Mrs. E .E. Page Dead—Fishing Good and Prospects Better—Weather Fine; Farmers Busy—Business Change.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 17.—The weather throughout this section during the week just closing has been the finest experienced in a long time, though a little cool for the time of year. The farmers are evidently taking advantage of the favorable weather conditions, as few are to be seen in town. There is a difference of opinion as to whether or not fruit was damaged by the recent cold weather.

Mrs. Elizabeth Page, wife of Mr. E. E. Page, died Thursday night at the family home in the northwestern part of town. Mrs. Page was a lady of sweet Christian character, whom to know was to love. She is survived by her husband and 10 children, who have the sincere sympathies of the people of this section. The funeral was conducted from the Gospel Tabernacle at 3 o'clock this morning, after which the remains were taken to the Page cemetery in the Fairmont section for burial. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Combs, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle.

A brick wall is being constructed on the south side of the old cemetery near the railroad. When the street recently was cut down for the paving several graves were cut into, in some places exposing bones and parts of caskets put there in the long ago. Graves were found there that no one living now can tell when they were made. Some kind of a wall was necessary to prevent washing down the sides of the cemetery during heavy rains.

Lumberton now has a union passenger station where all passenger trains serving Lumberton discharge and take on passengers, but if any one wants to find out anything about trains, which information is supposed to be furnished at the station, he must go to the station to learn; can't phone, as there is no town phone at the station. Trains coming and going on three railroads and no phone service, which would cost $3 per month.

During the past week a good many fish have been caught with hook and line at the McMillan mill. Only members of the club which has the pond leased are allowed to fish in it. It is reported that a good many fish are being caught at Warwick's mill, four miles east of Lumberton. It is expected that when the water gets low enough in Lumber river fishing will be fine in that stream, as it has been on a swell most of the winter.

As the result of drinking witch hazel in which two bichloride tablets had been dissolved, Mr. C. B. Meares is critically ill. Mr. Meares drank the stuff last Sunday, and while he has shown signs of improvement the physicians hold out litle hope of recovery. Mr. Meares is a barber, and it is said the two tablets were put in a gallon of the liquid to keep anyone from drinking it, and that Mr. Meares was well aware of the fact when he drank it.

Material is being placed on the ground for remodeling the Pastime theatre and it is expected that work will begin next week on the extension in the rear. The building will be made longer, the ceiling raised and an incline floor will be put in. One of the features of the improvement to be made will be the ventilating system. Architect Russell, under whose supervision the work will be done, says he is going to make the Pastime one of the most inviting theatres to be found in any small town.

Last spring when the town election was held The Star correspondent made the race for town commissioner, although not a single voter suggested it to him. He did not ask any one to vote for him, but got a pretty decent vote, even if he did get "snowed under." Now several friends have persuaded him into the notion of running again—not the whole town or even a fourth of it has asked him to run again, but those who have done so are among the most representative citizens and he likes to be accommodating. Therefore he will again be a target and if defeated as before, will sleep just as well, perhaps better. He stands for law and order and all good things that he thinks will improve Lumberton.

Improvement in Mail Service.

Another improvement has been made in the postoffice service here. Formerly the mails for trains passing here for Wilmington at 10 o'clock at night and for Charlotte at 7:13 a. m. were closed at 7 p. m., but recently a change was made, the mail for the early Charlotte train being made up at 6:30 a. m. and now the mail for Wilmington on night trains is held open until 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Eliza Bass celebrated her 82nd birthday yesterday, and while she has not been enjoying the best of health recently, she is much improved and expects to celebrate several more birthdays. She is remarkably well preserved for one of her age, still retaining her eyesight sufficiently well not to use glasses. Truth is she does not look over 60.

Dr. Knox Much Improved.

The many friends of Dr. John Knox are delighted at his return from Baltimore greatly improved in health. He had been in that city for some time taking treatment. Dr. Knox hopes soon to be able to resume his practice.

Mrs. W. P. McAllister went to Richmond yesterday, where she will spend a short time under the care of a specialist.

The piano contest which has been on for some time at the 5 and 10 cent store closed Thursday night, Miss Letha Page being the winner.

Mr. W. J. DuBois has sold the Lumberton bakery to Mr. C. C. Stophel, of Chadbourn, the transfer being made last night. Mr. and Mrs. DuBois expect to leave netx we kfor Tannssee where they will make their home. During their several years' residence in Lumberton Mr. and Mrs. DuBois have made a large number of friends who regret very much their decision to locate elsewhere.

A basket ball team came over from the Fayetteville graded school yesterday afternoon and played against Lumberton.

New Physicians to Locate.

Dr. H. O. Earley, of South Boston, Va., who spent a few days here recently, was so favorably impressed with Lumberton that he has decided to locate here for the practice of his profession, and will arrive with his family about May 1st. Knowing Dr. Early personally, the writer is sure Lumberton people will like him very much when they become acquainted with him.

Mr. Thos. L. Johnson went to Richmond last night on legal business.

It is understood that the friends of Capt. A. S. King are going to support him for town commissioner. Captain King says he is not a candidate, but if his friends elect him he will serve to the best of his ability, and that would be good service, as every one knows who knows Captain King.

Miss Bonnie Barker left this morning for Dillon, S. C., where she will spend some tim ewith her parents.

Mr. A. L. Boyd, formerly connected with the R. & C. road, was a Lumberton visitor yesterday. W. S. W.

"OUR CREED."
By B. Lesh

A man deserves an opportunity to do all that he can be relied upon to do for all that he earns.

No man should be allowed to dissipate an opportunity that another man can make use of.

It is only as we can rely on each other for parts of the work that fit together that we need each other.

Each man is to try to master his work and to do it better, and to simplify it, so that this place may grow—and so that as this place grows he may be able to shift details of his work onto others.

Each man is to try to grow in reliability, for as the place grows the mutual need of reliability becomes greater and the cost of unfaithfulness becomes greater.

Unity of purpose, with a natural division of the work, individual responsibility and mutual helpfulness pay.

"Me for 'GETS-IT' When I Have Corns"

Simple As Saying It; Never Fails.

It does your heart good to see how easily and quickly any corn comes out when you put "GETS-IT" on! And then when you've gone along for years trying everything, when you've sat up nights wrapping up your toes in bandages, smearing on salves that rub off or swell up the corn, pasting on cotton plasters that make corns pop-eyed, slaughtering your toes with razors, jabbing them with knives and pruning to the quick with scissors—and then you put on 2 drops of "GETS-IT" and see your corn fall right off—why, it just looks like a miracle. Just try it. "GETS-IT" never fails. No pain, no trouble. Use it for any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

A WILMINGTON REPORT

Fully Corroborated and Easily Investigated.

Do you need a good kidney medicine? Then read the reports in these very columns of Wilmington persons cured or benefited with Doan's Kidney Pills. You won't have to go far to find out if they are true. This Wilmington case is an example. Others will follow.

L. H. Partin, 505 Chestnut St., Wilmington, says: "My back was weak and lame and I had acute pains across my loins. The secretions from my kidneys were highly colored and filled with sediment, and caused me much distress when being voided. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Bellamy's Drug Store and they drove away all the symptoms of my complaint." (Statement given Feb. 25, 1908).

OVER TWO YEARS LATER Mr. Partin said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally since giving my former endorsement and always with the best of results."

WITH THE MAN IN THE STREET

A Study in Feminism—She stood before one of the slender, plate glass mirrors that adorn the entrance of a down-town millinery shop and surveyed the small image reflected with as much gratification as if her years numbered twenty instead of two. She was dressed in soft-looking white stuff, with a bit of blue about and wore a small cap touched with the same delicate hue. From beneath the bonnet strayed curls the color of gold and through them looked beautiful eyes, blue as azure.

There seemed a dearth of people about; a nurse with a babe in a perambulator was a few steps away, but with this exception the wee maiden was quite alone; however, had there been millions she would have known it not, so absorbed had she become in contemplation of herself as depicted by the glass and so oblivious to all else. To the man near-by it was an attractive picture to watch her charming coquetries as she smiled, talked and laughed to herself, and he feared momentarily that some one would come to deprive him of it.

A small boy passed; he saw her not; a woman, to look at whom was to see that Care had the leading role in her life and left no place for the beautiful; a man of business, perplexed and tussling with some knotty problem to judge by the tense, tired features came next. And then a sweet-faced girl; bright, happy, joyous. She looked on the child and her face grew softer, she walked a few steps then, as if unable to resist temptation, returned and stooping down put an arm about the baby and began talking to it. She must have been one of those whom children instinctively trust, for instead of appearing abashed at her overtures, the child straightway smiled into the face beside her, and pointing to the mirror gurgled: "Baby! Baby." Then to show that she was eternally feminine and that such traits are innate, and not, as Mere Man might fancy, acquired with age, she placed a rose-tinted hand on a fluffy cap and pointing to the mirror proudly lisped: "Hat! Hat! Baby—new—hat". The girl smiled in genuine sympathy and bending caught the child to her in a warm impulsive embrace.

The Printer's Towel—The printing office towel is an awesome institution, and the Man in the Street has long felt that some poetic soul should immortalize it in song. Lacking the courage to essay poetry himself, and believing that prose could not do the subject justice, he was beginning to despair, when Col. Al Fairbrother, of Greensboro Everything, proves with the following that prose is easily equal to the occasion:

"The printing office towel is born with the complexion of the lily and the freshness of the rose—it is hung in pristine purity from a roller that seldom revolves—it shakes hands with the best of fellows and the wisest of men—it comes to be populated by enough germs to entitle it to protection by the society with the long name—it loses its complexion and chaste purpose—a residium of lye from the yellowest of soap eats out its conscience and its hope—its flexibility vanishes like the editor's scissors and the foreman's pipe—it may be rolled up like a carpet and will stand in the corner like an umbrella, but it is dear to the heart of every printer, for its damp acquaintance is the last rite that marks departure to the realm of food and the Lost Hope which one time was his."

His Mistake—Two of Wilmington's brightest and cleverest society belles came tripping down Front street one afternoon recently. They were decked out in all their Easter finery, and the display was an imposing one indeed.

A New York salesman, loafing with several Wilmingtonians at the corner of Front and Princess, gave the ladies the once-over and propounded as follows:

"H'm! What show is in town tonight?"

Informed of his mistake, he admitted that he had been on the road for several weeks, and that the styles might have changed since last he was in New York.

All Whiteville Is Asking "What Is It?"

COMMUNITY ALARMED BY FEROCIOUS VARMINT THAT CAUSES DISAPPEARANCES OF CANINES.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., April 17.—Strange and weird disappearances of canines, and unmistakable signs of numbers of dogs getting worsted in combats with what is claimed to be the most ferocious and terrorizing varmint to inhabit these parts in years, have alarmed this otherwise peaceful community to an extent seldom manifest, and hundreds of people have been engaged for the past week in an effort to locate and put an end to the depredations and prowlings of this mysterious beast.

Just what it is no one seems to know, although several credible men have seen "it," and numbers claim to have shot at it within the past few nights. Tracks, similar to a dog's, have been seen in different sections of the town and measure, according to reliable statements, 5 1-2 inches across, the only difference being that the track is much larger and the nail a great deal longer than a dog's.

Efforts to locate it in the day have been futile, and in only a few instances have credible narrators been able to get a glimpse of it during night time. Hunting parties from both ends of town have searched continuously for the varmint and fox hounds were brought down from Chadbourn yesterday morning to trail it, but failed to work.

The negro inhabitants in the outskirts of town have been alarmed to such a state that they keep watch at night, and trusty muzzle loaders that haven't been removed from racks in many moons have been called into play.

THEATRICAL

If a big beginning stands for any indication of the coming wek, the Bijou should have the very biggest week of its history, as Monday opens with one of the very biggest features of the year—from a standpoint of timeliness, in the presentation of Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, the one man from among the earth's countless thousands who could win back for the white race the fistic supremacy of the universe, in a stirring dramatic feature, "The Heart Punch." And Jess plays the leading role throughout, is right in the thick of some of the most thrilling action you have ever witnessed on the screen. There's a real ring battle with thrilling action and enthusiasm. Another feature Monday will be that great two-reel thriller, "The City of Terrible Night," featuring King Baggot and Arline Pretty.

Tuesday will come that great Warren Kerrigan feature, "The Guardian of the Flock," one of the greatest two-reel photoplays, Kerrigan has ever starred in. Also a two-reel feature, "The Oakland Handicap," one of the most thrilling race track dramas ever staged, showing some thrilling real races.

Wednesday "The Black Box," with some other big things will hold the boards, and Thursday comes Dorothy Phillips and Howard Crampton in that great Oriental drama, "A Lesson From the Far East," in which Dorothy Phillips plays a beautiful role of a Celectial maiden.

Friday comes "The Exploits of Elaine," with the seventh thrilling episode in two reels, also a great Universal two-reel drama, "The Mysterious Centragrav," one of the greatest mystery two-reelers ever filmed.

For the big week-end that great two-reel feature "His Captive" will come along with some other big numbers.

But first of all—tomorrow—Jess Willard in "The Heart Punch." Open at 11 a. m. Standing room will probably be scarce very early.

At the Victoria.

George Kleine's beautiful six-part masterpiece, "Du Barry", which visits the Victoria Theatre on Monday, April 19th, featuring Mrs. Leslie Carter in the title role, is founded on the play which in turn received its inspiration from the dramatic events of the reign of Louis XV. It was the wasteful extravagance of Mme. DuBarry that was largely responsible for the "pacte de famine," which allowed Louis XV to corner the wheat supply of France and sell it to the people at greatly advanced prices. This led to the first revolt, which some 18 years later resulted in the overthrow of monarchy in France and the frightful, bloody events of the French Revolution.

The Kleine film takes up the history of Mme. Du Barry when she was an humble milliner's model, known to her associates as Jeannette Vaubernier. How that dissolute roue' and gamble, Comte' Jean Du Barry, fastened upon the innocence of the pretty milliner, fostered her acquaintanceship with Louis XV, until she consented to take the name of Jean Du Barry's brother and become the most admired and despised woman in all France, makes a delightfully romantic story, thoroughly characteristic of the times. Her pure and laudable love for De Cosse' Brissac, captain of the Guards, the cruel circumstance which separated the pair to cast Brisaac in the prison of St. Marguerite where he languished until the French Revolution liberated him 18 years later, while she reigned in all but name, Queen of France, is told in beautiful pictures. The film moves with snap-and-go from title to tail-piece.

Death of Colored Woman.

Ann Bennett, an aged colored woman, died Thursday night at her home on Seventh street, between Ann and Nun. She was a consistent member of Chesnut street colored Presbyterian church and deeply interested in Christian work. The funeral will be from that church this afternoon, having been delayed to await the arrival of a son from the North.

TO PATRONS OF THE BIJOU

Realizing our deep responsibility to the patrons of this theatre, in the selection of a programme that is not only interesting and instructive, but one that at all times shall be of the very highest order, and following our long established policy of exercising the strictest censorship over every picture shown at the Bijou in order that none which could have the slightest objectionable feature to any of our patrons be shown, we beg to advise that, owing to a number of complaints during the past few weeks regarding certain scenes and situations which have recently characterized some of the brands of pictures, and after personal observation, we have decided to eliminate entirely these brands from our bookings, in order to avoid the possibility of having to run any future releases which might be objectionable.

We are confident that this step will be appreciated by the vast majority of our patrons, who have a right to expect only photoplays of the very highest order and clean type at the Bijou, and that they will more than ever realize the advisability of the step we have taken when we announce in the near future the big, new pictures that we shall book to replace the discarded brands—photoplays in every way qualified to be shown alongside the great "UNIVERSAL PROGRAMME"—which we still maintain exclusive control of in Wilmington.

As in the past, we shall at all times welcome criticism of any picture which we exhibit, and shall continue to place consideration of our patrons ahead of everything else and endeavor to maintain "THE INCOMPARABLE PROGRAMME" for all time to come.

Sincerely

BIJOU AMUSEMENT CO.

JAMES HOWARD, President P. W. WELLS, Secretary-Treas.

MORE SPECULATIVE BUYING

Cotton Prices Advance to the Season's Highest as Result of Renewal of Speculation.

New York, April 17.—A renewal of speculative buying on a large scale rushed cotton prices on the local market up to the highest levels of the season today. At one time quotations for the leading months were 10 to 15 points above the previous close with May showing the greatest advance. The final tone was steady at a net rise of 6 to 13 points.

The strong bullish sentiment which has dominated the market for some weeks received encouragement from the cables which were 3 1-2 to 4 1-2 points higher and the opening here was firm at an advance of 8 to 9 points.

Except for realizing the offerings were very light all day. The heavy spinners' takings of American as reported by a local trade paper and the large quantity on shipboard not yet cleared were strong factors in the market as were also the sale of 300,000 pieces of print cloths at Fall River for the week, a total four times larger than for the corresponding week last year. In addition more than half a million pieces of wide print cloth yarn goods were said to have been purchased in the local market during the week.

The weather was considered favorable, Texas getting showing in sections where rain is needed.

Futures closed steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Market Was Active and Firm—Prices Rose 9 to 11 Points During Session.

New Orleans, April 17.—The cotton market was an active and firm market today. Prices rose 9 to 11 points over yesterday's final figures, making new high levels for the season, and closed at a net gain of 6 to 10 points. Much realizing was done by longs, but the ring took the offerings well. Outside interests did considerable fresh buying.

Buying was stimulated by the large mill takings for the week, the heavy export movement, bullish reports from the stock market and account of a growing feeling of optimism in business circles of the country. Corrections over night in the weekly statistics brought mill takings for the week up t o382,000 bales, compared with 280,-000 this week last year. The statistical boards showed that foreign exports were almost twice as large as they were this week last year.

ALL STOCKS ON ADVANCE

Week of Action and Strength on Market Culminated When Entire List Reached Top Prices.

New York, April 17.—A week of extraordinary activity in the stock market culminated today in a high level of quoted values virtually throughout the list. Industrial and equipment issues recently the center of unrestrained trading, again were prominent with further gains of 3 to 7 points, although American Locomotive and New York Air Brake closed with net losses.

United States Steel was the foremost feature, dealings exceeding 165,-000 shares, or almost 25 per cent of the two hours' business. It advanced to 60, its best price of the current rise and about 10 points above its quotation of the latter part of last January, when adverse trade conditions and poor earnings impelled the directors to suspend the dividend.

Trading in Steel was on a scale like that which made the stock conspicuous in by-gone years. Lots of 1,000, 2,000, 3,000 and even 4,000 shares were absorbed with a freedom begotten of confidence of extreme buoyancy.

General Industrial reports, including a marked increase of production by leading steel mills and announcement of the passing of the intense pessimism so long prevailing in mercantile lines, contributed in no small measure towards the buoyancy manifested in speculative circles. Further selling, domestic and foreign, for profits, was without effect, highest prices mostly ruling at the close.

Bonds were firm later in the week, after a brief period of irregularity. Today's sales, par value, aggregated $2,-252,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call for the week.

WEEKLY DRY GOODS REVIEW.

Cotton Goods Markets Were Strong and Prices Advancing—Sales Good.

New York, April 17.—Cotton goods markets are very strong and prices advancing. Sales in the wide print cloth and convertible division have been active and large, many being for contract delivery late in the year.

Many prices on standard wide convertibles are now up from 5-8c to 3-4c a yard fro mprices of March 1.

Domestics in bleached and brown line are much higher and firmer. Colored domestics are being held at value in a number of instances and have been withdrawn from sales in other cases. There is more business offering in fine and fancy cottons for summer delivery and contracts are being entered into for delivery from mills to converters for the 1916 early spring trade.

Prints are steady and percales firmer with an advancing tendency. On many lines of ginghams advances have been named from the low points, while many lines are off the markets because of inability to secure dye stuffs.

Manufacturing and retail trades report a slowly broadening trade. While prices are up considerable they are not yet on a parity with cotton and further revisions upward are anticipated in wholesale circles.

There has been some improvement in yarns demand and prices are substantially higher, spinners holding very firm. Knit goods are showing an improvement both in domestic and export lines.

Quotations: Print cloths 28 inch, 64x 64s, 3c; 64x60s, 2 7-8c; 38 1-2 inch 64x 64s, 4 1-2c; denims 9 ounce 18c; tickings 11 1-2c nominal; prints ..c; staple ginghams, 6 1-4c; dress ginghams, 9 1-4c; brown sheetings, Southern standards, 6 1-4 to 6 1-2c.

POINDEXTER DESERTS PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Bull Moosers Now Have No Representative in Senate

Senator From Washington State Announces His Candidacy for Re-election But on Republican Platform—His Reasons.

Spokane, Wash., April 17.—The sole Progressive in the United States Senate, Miles Poindexter, of Washington, announced here tonight that he would seek re-election on the Republican ticket. He took his seat in the Senate as a Progressive in April, 1911, and his term will expire March 3, 1917.

Senator Poindexter arrived at his home here today and after consulting with friends issued a statement which read in part:

"I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for senator.

"There will be a concerted and vigorous movement by Republicans throughout the country to nominate a progressive on the Republican ticket for the President of the United States. When united the party is progressive, both in this state and in the National. Neither the Aberdeen convention in this state, in 1912, nor the Chicago National convention represented the Republican party.

"Both perpetrated a political coup d'etat by force and Machiavellian methods with swarms of armed policemen on the floors and at the doors. Their acts were void and of no effect."

SPECIAL APPEAL FOR MORE MEN ON ARMY

Recruiting Stations in London to Make Additional Efforts to Get Men

London, March 31. (Correspondence of The Associated Press) From April 11 to April 25 all the recruiting agencies in Greater London are to make a special appeal for additional men for the nation's new armies. Patriotic demonstrations will be held daily in every Metropolitan district and the number of such gatherings already arranged exceed 1,500.

Similar "recruiting fortnights" have been held or are to be held shortly in all the larger cities throughout Great Britain. The mass-meetings will be held in parks, public squars, halls and some from motor-trucks after the manner of an American election campaign. There will be bands or fife-and-drum corps for most of the larger meetings, and the orators will be representative of all three great political parties. At each meeting the latest recruiting leaflets will be distributed. Efforts will be made by appealing directly to particular localities to inspire local pride and healthy competition between neighboring districts.

The official notice of the plan for the London fortnight says: "It is felt that notwithstanding the large numbers of patriotic Londoners who have already joined the army or navy, there are many more who may now desire to join the colors, including men who were and are willing, but who were prevented by good and sufficient reasons, which no longer apply with equal force from enlisting in the early days of the war; men who at the outset offered their services, but were rejected owing to their inability to fulfil certain conditions which have since been altered and others who would give their services but for the erroneous idea that if they enlist now they will be too late to be of effective use before the end of the war. In Lord Kitchener's words, 'Men and more men still' will be needed until the enemy has been finally crushed."

HOW SPINSTERS MAY FIGHT OLD AGE AWAY

By Joining Auxiliary Force of Girls Scouts Now Organizing in England

London, March 31.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press) Spinsters grown uneasy over the flight of time may technically remain girls by joining the auxiliary force of Girl Scouts now organized, which takes in women up to 40 years. The new contingent went into camp in Essex during Easter week, with its own bugler to blow reveille.

Lady Frederick, Mrs. H. B. Irving and other well known ladies are patrons of the grown-up scouts. Simple drilling and some marching are compulsory, and members are encouraged to learn the use of rifle and revolver, signaling, scouting and map drawing. Drills are held twice weekly.

Other work in which the members specialize are cooking, sewing and mending and foreign languages.
